RECEPTION.

At the family residence on Sargent street Monday afternoon from 4 to 6, Mrs. Frank Albert Pickernell gave a reception to introduce her daughter, Miss Marjorie Pickernell. There was a representative gathering of Newton's society set. The house was decorated with greenery and flowers, pink roses predominating in the reception room. Miss Pickernell was gowned in pale blue and white thin fabric from Manila, made over very light blue satin, and Mrs. Pickernell wore apricot stain covered with chiffon of the same shade with touches of black. The tea table was in yellow and white with a centre piece of white peas and yellow shades on the candelabra. The pourers were Mrs. John T. Lodge, Mrs. Walter H. Holbrook, Mrs. Benjamin W. Fredericks, Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt, Mrs. Charles H. Breck, Miss Mabel Riley, Mrs. William R. Dewey, all of Newton; Mrs. William Morris of Dorchester and Miss Fish of Longwood. The group of young girls assisting were the Misses Helen Gustin, Katherine Pratt, Mildred Clark, Frances Beckford, Mary Damon, Georgie May Morris and Helen Beckford of Brooklyn N. Y.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mayor Charles E. Hatfield was re-elected chairman of the Republican state committee at the annual meeting held on Monday. "Capt. John W. Weeks," says an exchange, "has been drafted for an exceptional number of public services since he entered Congress. The report that he is under serious consideration for chairman of the Republican national committee to lead the presidential battle a year and a half hence, has all the earmarks of probability. He is the kind of man the position needs; it is the sort of service for which he is especially fitted. The question is, can he be induced to serve?" Can it be that this national chairmanship talk is part of the plan to keep Weeks from active participation in the U. S. senatorial fight?

HUNNEWELL CLUB.

The annual party to dance the old year out and to dance the New Year in, held last Saturday night, was a great success, being well attended, in spite of other attractions, and the music by the First Corps of Cadets Orchestra being exceptionally fine. Mrs. Edward M. Hallett, Mrs. Fred H. Loveland and Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet were the matrons and Mrs. Ralph W. Angier, Mrs. J. Murray Quinby, Mrs. Everett T. Ryder and Mrs. Robert G. Howard assisted at the tables as pourers. The party was in charge of Mr. Edward M. Hallett, with Messrs. William F. Garcelon, Fred H. Loveland, Ralph W. Angier, J. Murray Quinby, Robert G. Howard and Vernon B. Sweet, as ushers. At the stroke of midnight, dancing ceased and the dancers joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

WARD ONE CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Republican Club of Ward One was held Saturday evening. The annual reports were read, a contribution made to the ward and city committee and the following officers chosen to serve the coming year: President, Harry W. Bascom; vice-president, Francis H. Franklin; secretary, E. O. Childs, Jr.; treasurer, Robert D. Holt; executive committee, William Deuschle, George Keating, John I. Van Buskirk.

Two matches were played Saturday in the round robin curling tournament at the Brae Burn Country Club. Ice conditions were the best of the winter there, and both contests developed not a little of exceptionally good curling. The match on rink 1 won by the side skipped by G. I. Jones over that of F. R. Witherbee was a rather one-sided event, inasmuch as there was a margin of nine points between the winner and the loser. The team of A. J. Selfridge and E. F. Woods was a keen contest, the first named side having been enabled to win by one point on the last end. The tournament is about half finished. There are nine competing teams and each has played about six matches.

TO HONOR CITY CLERK MAYOR TO RUN AGAIN

The Board of Aldermen of 1911 will be inaugurated next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at City Hall, West Newton. The most interesting event of the day will be the retirement of Col. Isaac F. Kingsbury, after a service of nearly 28 years as city clerk. At the close of the meeting, Mayor Hatfield will give a public reception to Col. Kingsbury, beginning about 4:30 o'clock.

The new members of the board are Messrs. John F. Murphy, Grosvenor Calkins, Bernard Early, Frederick W. Jones and Albert F. Bemis, while Aldermen Willard S. Higgins, R. W. Williamson, George M. Cox, Frank R. Moore, Joseph H. Chadbourne, Matt B. Jones, Walter H. Barker and Nathan Heard will take the oath of office anew. The new board will re-elect Alderman Matt B. Jones as president, and Alderman Frank R. Moore will be vice-president. Mr. Frank M. Grant, the present assistant city clerk, will be elected to the office vacated by Col. Kingsbury. City Treasurer Francis Newhall will be re-elected for another term and the same honor will be given J. C. Brimble, com. clerk of committees.

The Board of Aldermen of 1910 will hold its last meeting at 2 o'clock the same afternoon and a group photograph will be taken prior to the meeting.

COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET.

Col. Isaac F. Kingsbury, the retiring city clerk, will be given a complimentary banquet on Monday evening in Playton Hall, West Newton. The affair is in the hands of Past Commander John Flood of the Charles Ward Post 62, of which Col. Kingsbury has served the present year as commander, and while the affair will be largely in the hands of his army comrades, it is heartily endorsed by Mayor Hatfield and many civilians will be present.

COMING OUT RECEPTION.

Mrs. William H. Lucas gave a charming afternoon tea on Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home on Kirkstall road, Newtonville, to present her daughter, Miss Dorothy Lucas. The house was most attractive in its holiday decorations and bright with many beautiful flowers sent in honor of Miss Lucas. About two hundred and fifty guests were present from this city and neighborhood. The young ladies who assisted were Mrs. Petri, and the Misses Parr, Widger, Alley, Robbins, Chidsey, Hill, Hodgeman, Waters, Horton and Grant. Music was furnished during the afternoon by Raymond's Orchestra and there was informal dancing.

WALKER—JEPSON.

Mr. William O. Walker, for many years a resident of Newton, and Miss Florence Marion Jepson, were quietly married last Saturday morning at the home of the bride on Charlesbank road, Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles M. Day, pastor of the Watertown Baptist Church. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Theodore C. Walker.

WEDDING KEPT SECRET.

The secret marriage on Dec. 20 of Miss Tena E. McDougall of 9 South Cogg street, Newton Corner, and Ralph Campbell Stevens, a former Newton drug clerk, became known yesterday to the friends of the young couple through the receipt of announcements from the bride's parents. The marriage took place at the home of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. John C. Stevens, in Portsmouth, N. H., after Miss McDougall and Mr. Stevens had quietly shipped away from Newton. The bride is 21 and the groom 23.

Mayor Charles E. Hatfield has announced that he will be a candidate again next fall for the Republican nomination for Mayor. His intentions on this matter have been known for several weeks by his most intimate friends, but the news will be a complete surprise to the public, which had settled down to the idea that after a two-year term, a Mayor should not seek re-election. Mayor Hatfield, however, believes that the city can receive better service from an experienced official, and as he has several plans for improvements which cannot be completed during the coming year, he has definitely decided to be a candidate for re-election.

GERHARD—CLEVELAND.

Miss Dorothy Cleveland, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duvel Cleveland of Chester street, Newton Highlands, became the bride last Monday of Rev. Edward Ashley Gerhard of East Orange, N. J. St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, where the ceremony took place at 12:30 o'clock, was most attractive with Christmas greens and beautiful calla lilies and filled with relatives and friends. The officiating clergyman were Rev. W. E. Gardner, formerly rector of St. James' Church, Cambridge, where the groom had been an assistant, and Rev. George E. Norton of St. George's Church of New York city. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William E. Jeffries of Boston. She wore her mother's wedding gown of white brocade silk, veiled with chiffon. Mr. Frederic Gerhard, a brother of the groom, was the best man.

A reception followed at the Cleveland residence on Chester street, Rev. and Mrs. Gerhard being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Gerhard. After a wedding trip to Woodstock, Vt., Rev. and Mrs. Gerhard will make their home at Newcastle, Wyoming, where the groom is engaged in missionary work. Their formal at homes will begin after Feb. 1.

N. H. S.

The girls of the junior class gave a pleasant dancing party last Friday evening at the Newton Club house, with Mrs. W. O. Hunt, Mrs. E. E. Wakefield, Jr., and Mrs. H. E. Williams as matrons.

Rudger M. T. S. defeated the Newton High hockey team at Brae Burn Saturday, scoring six goals to Newton's two. It was Newton's first defeat of the season and came in the nature of a surprise. Listless playing and lack of team work by their opponents aided Rindge in gaining victory. Fritz, captain of the Rindge seven, was conspicuous. He and H. Green teamed up in excellent style at the passing game. Captain Charley Foote and Spaulding showed up well for Newton.

MRS. CHASE DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Jane Chase, widow of the late Lewson E. Chase, passed away last Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles D. Kepner on Walnut street, Newtonville. She had been in failing health for some time. She was a native of Charlestown, where she was born 73 years ago. Mrs. Chase had made her home in Newton for many years and with her husband was an active worker in Eliot Church. Mrs. Chase was strongly identified with the Eliot Church and Sunday school and the echo organ was given in his memory. Private services were held from the house Saturday, conducted by Rev. H. Grant Peterson, pastor of Eliot Church, and the burial was in Newton Cemetery.

ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Stanley Mutual Benefit Association was held in Nonantum Hall Monday evening. The officers elected for the following year were C. S. Reamy, president; O. H. McDonald, vice-president; J. F. Hennessey, secretary; John J. Sullivan, treasurer; Howard A. O'Grady and James A. Gleason, H. J. Clavin, M. J. O'Halloran and W. S. Marriot, board of directors.

What a bother it is to build a home! After it is built comes the problem of how to heat it. We are experts in this problem and can recommend, if called upon, something which will accomplish the result. The "WINCHESTER" steam or hot water boiler is the solution. Catalogue mailed on request to Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

Too often instead of being sorry for our misdeeds we are merely ashamed that we have been found out.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION

GIVEN MAYOR HATFIELD BY NEWTON CLUB

The public reception tendered to Mayor Charles E. Hatfield by the Newton Club on Saturday evening was a great success and a splendid tribute to one who has been aptly termed "the best loved and most lovable man in Newton."

Over one thousand of Newton's most representative men and women were present and the beautiful clubhouse was a suitable setting for such a scene.

The guest of honor was assisted in receiving by Mr. James L. Richards, president of the Newton Club. His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham, and Major Talbot Aldrich and Major Harry L. Brown of the Governor's staff. His Excellency, Governor Eben S. Draper was expected to be present, but was prevented by his physical condition. Notwithstanding the Governor's absence, it was a most brilliant affair, with beautiful gowns, full evening dress and many military costumes.

The committee in charge, Messrs. William J. Follett, William M. Flanders, Albert P. Carter and Major Morton E. Cobb, did everything in their power to add to the pleasure of their guests. Two orchestras, one on the dining room floor and one in the assembly hall, rendered popular and classical music under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley, and after the reception was over, the furnished dance music to dance the old year out. The supper tables were most attractive, with decorations of flowers and ices and were spread in three separate rooms to accommodate the throng.

The guests were presented to the receiving party by the younger members of the club. Mr. Austin W. Follett was in charge and was assisted by Representative Thomas W. White, Messrs. George W. Pratt, W. Dana Follett, Jarvis Lamson, Jr., Ewart C. Caldwell, J. Preston Rice, Thorndike H. White, more, William I. Fearing, Alfred H. Wing, Philip E. Whiting, Royal G. Whiting, Charles P. Slocum, R. M. Cummings, J. Merwin Allen, Louis A. Webster, R. R. Merchant, J. Dana Thomas, Charles H. Avery, Thomas A. Whidden, Everett W. English, Bigelow Hills, Norman C. Nagle, Roland F. Gammons 2nd and J. Ellis Gammons.

While it is impossible to name every one who was present, the following were noted in the crowded hall: Hon. Seaward W. Jones, Hon. Herbert E. Fletcher of the Governor's council, Hon. and Mrs. Samuel L. Powers, Representative George H. Ellis, Hon. and Mrs. Edward B. Wilson, Hon. and Mrs.

BREAKS LEG.

When Officer John Purcell went to the home of John J. Boyce, aged 29, of 192 Chapel street, Saturday afternoon, to arrest him for the Brighton police on a charge of larceny, Boyce without warning to the officer jumped out of the second-story window to a tin roof and as he fell his leg was broken.

Boyce was removed to the station house, where Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher attended him. He was later taken by the Brighton police.

XMAS PARTY.

The annual Christmas party for the children of Channing Sunday school was given on Friday evening, Dec. 30. After informal games in the parlors a supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Arthur W. Blakemore.

The evening's entertainment was of more than usual interest, being furnished by the children themselves. The first number was a song by the boys of Mr. North's class, "Dinah Rolls," composed by Miss Josephine Sherwood. The boys in their picaresque costume entered with spirit into their parts and were enthusiastically received and had to do it all over again.

This was followed by an Irish jig by six of Miss Coddingdon's pupils, Ruth Warren, Rebecca Cole, Caroline Fisher, Frances Warren, Mary Stebbins and Frances Stebbins, in appropriate costume. These also were called back and merited the applause given them. The boys having once more assumed their natural hue with the addition of several from Mr. Holmes' class then gave the "Tinkers' Chorus" from "Robin Hood." Mrs. May Shepard Hayward accompanying them on the piano.

The play given, "The Golden Goose," was just the sort to please the children—and the older people too for that matter—being a dramatic version of the fairy story of the same name. The children did their parts remarkably well and it was enjoyed equally by all. The music in connection with it included the Mendelssohn "Midsummer Night's Dream" music and Grieg's "Elfin Dance." The parts were taken as follows: Dimppling, Ralph Bartlett, Jr.; Fritz, Howard Hayward; Marion Green, Albert Palmer; King Wilhelm, Robert Lutz; Priest, Daisy Philbrick; Laborer, Paul Nash; Three Earls, Don, old Crawford, Roger Lutz and Merrill Garelson; Princess, Elizabeth Carpenter; Gretchen, Caroline Fisher; Katrina, Florence Mandell.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Mrs. J. N. Palmer, Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee and Mrs. Eugene Carpenter and they should feel well rewarded for their work, since everyone present agreed that it was one of the best entertainments of the kind they had seen for many a day.

Colonial Theatre—Miss Bessie McCoy and her lively crew of comedians, singers and dancers, who are presenting "The Echo" at the Colonial Theatre, have only one more week in Boston. Miss McCoy's engagement ends Saturday night, Jan. 14.

It is seldom that a musical comedy is so universally praised as "The Echo" has been. The Boston newspapers have been as one in saying that the piece is a wonderfully diverting entertainment. Following are a few extracts from the critical comments:

The Globe—"There is fun and melody every minute."

Post—"Filled with catchy songs; plenty of laughs."

Journal—"Bessie McCoy is a bunch of happiness."

"The Echo" is essentially a dance tournament, with 17 varieties of the art on exhibition, from Miss McCoy's own delicate art to the exotic hula-hula of the Hawaiians. There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Park Theatre—Don't you enjoy a rattling good detective play? Well, I am frank to confess that I do. I had read the "Arsene Lupin" stories by that clever Frenchman, Maurice Leblanc, and for two years I have been awaiting the coming of the great detective play, "Arsene Lupin." I had heard about the unprecedented success of this piece in Paris and how it duplicated this success during its long run at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, so I can assure you, dear readers, that I was more than glad to go to the Park Theatre, Boston, Monday evening, and see Mr. Charles Frohman's wonderful production of this fascinating detective play. William Courtenay, to my mind, the handsomest and most talented actor on the American stage, plays the title role. After seeing Mr. Courtenay's Duke of Chatterbox I could readily understand why this debonaire and polished young actor was the idol of the matinee girl. Really in all my experience as a dramatic critic I have never seen a more evenly balanced cast. As for the play itself it is interesting from beginning to end, filled with thrilling situations and containing the most tender love episode. I advise all my readers to go and see "Arsene Lupin." If you don't you will regret it. It is the best play in Boston at the present time.

MARIE DASCOMBE.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—The highest salaried woman on the stage today is Eva Tanguay, who because of her wonderful vivaciousness has been called "The Madcap Comedienne." This season she has been fortunate in securing even better songs than formerly, and has been making the success of her career in New York. Miss Tanguay will unquestionably be the biggest attraction that will be seen at B. F. Keith's this season. Miss Tanguay will head an exceptionally strong bill, another feature of which will be Schicht's Manikens, and was imported from Germany for the Keith circuit this season. The manipulation of these manikens will prove a sensation to Bostonians. Other features will be the Valdare troupe of acrobats, Miller and Lyle in a comedy sketch, and a host of others.

Tremont Theatre—F. Zeigfeld, Jr.'s massive Revue, "The Follies of 1910," which is said to be the largest musical comedy institution in the world, begins a brief engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Monday evening, Jan. 9.

The work this season is in three acts and 13 brilliantly illuminated scenes. Harry B. Smith supplied the book, while Gus Edwards and many others composed the tuneful music. The Revue was staged by Julian Mitchell under the personal supervision of Mr. Zeigfeld, who promises an endless number of amazing surprises and startling novelties, the most important of which is a musical number rendered by Miss Lillian Lorraine and eight American beauties entitled "Swing Me High, Swing Me Low," in which Miss Lorraine swings over the heads of the audience while singing the song. The cast includes the names of more than 150 musical comedy players. Owing to the immensity of the production "The Follies of 1910" will not be presented in any other New England city save Boston.

Castle Square Theatre—Some of the largest audiences in the history of the Castle Square Theatre have witnessed "Jack and the Beanstalk" during the past two weeks, and consequently that delightful fairy extravaganza will be continued for another and a third week, beginning on Monday. Mr. Craig's production is having an unexampled success, and praise is being bestowed upon every feature of it, including especially Mary Young's bright and cheery impersonation of Jack Hubbard, the lively dances and the charming singing of choruses and solos. The children are notably taking a delight in "Jack and the Beanstalk," but it is none the less pleasing to their elders. The demand for seats is so great during the coming week that immediate application should be made at the box office.

Shubert Theatre—For three weeks at the Shubert Theatre, commencing Jan. 9, that most original of comedienne, Marc Cahill, will present in Boston her latest Broadway success, the unusual musical comedy "Judy Forgot," which comes here direct from New York with its famous "Judy Chorus" of 60 young and pretty girls. The piece is a prologue in two acts whose sparkling dialogue and lyrics and whose rich variety of tuneful melodies and song hits is the creation of Silvio Hein, composer of all Miss Cahill's successes. Marienbad, Bohemia, the locale of the piece, has provided Daniel V. Arthur with opportunities for picturesque scenic surprises and brilliant array of fascinating costumes. Judy's plot turns on the fact of a bride losing her memory and so claiming the wrong man, who is also on his honeymoon, for her husband. For Miss Cahill's art of comedy, which is peculiarly and pre-eminently hers alone, the part of Judy provides oppulent opportunities. Mr. Hopgood has been particularly fortunate in fashioning what has come to be known as characteristic Cahill song hits and "Good Morning, Judge," "Whoopee-La-La" and the "Turkish Love Song" are melodious gems of their kind.

Majestic Theatre—Madame X, "the supreme drama of thrills," entered last Monday upon the second week of its Boston engagement to an audience which filled the house to overflowing and gave vent to its approval of the stirring melodrama in numerous scene and curtain calls. The Bisson Melodrama is evidently in for a long and prosperous run here. It is many years since a melodrama of this style has been performed here and the excellence of Mr. Savage's company contributes not a little to the remarkable endorsement which the play has received. There are no flaws in the cast, while on the other hand many characters are so strongly played that the impression created is a lasting one. The cast is thoroughly efficient and the production is staged with the closest attention to detail. The production of a murder trial before a French Assize Court is of educational value. The third week begins next Monday, Jan. 9.

NEWTON POLICE ELECTIONS.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Police Benefit Association Wednesday at the Newton police headquarters, Sergeant James J. Mullen was elected president. The other officers are: Secretary, Richard J. Goode; treasurer, Arthur S. Kimball; directors, Josiah H. Seaver, Richard T. Taff, Charles H. Tainter and Edward Desmond.

At the annual meeting of the Newton branch of the Massachusetts Police Benefit Association, these officers were elected: President, Charles H. Tainter; vice-president, Joseph Seaver; secretary, John H. Shaughnessy; treasurer, Arthur S. Kimball.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The men of the Newtonville Methodist Church will conduct the services Sunday afternoon at 3:15 at the association. Mr. George W. Taylor will be the speaker.

The basket ball team covered itself with glory this last week, it having journeyed to Northampton to meet the team that defeated them on the home floor 21-17. The game started with a rush that startled the home team and before they recovered themselves Newton had a comfortable lead, the first half ending in their favor, the score being 22-10. In the second half the Newton team contented themselves with keeping the score down, which they did, winning the game 29-18. The whole team worked like a perfect machine, the best work being done by Cady and F. Miley. Robert Miley, a basket ball enthusiast, was so pleased with the work of the team that he composed the following and dedicated it to the basket ball team:

THE NEWTON TEAM.
Newton wins! Hurray! Hurray!
Joy in Newton reigns today!
Let angel voices raise the song!
Unto all lands the strains belong!
Peal loud, peal long, ye merry bells!
Join all ye sports in joyous yells!
Let heavenly voices swell the strain!
Till rocks re-echo it again!
Woods, hills and mountains, raise their voices!

And all the earthly throngs rejoice!
Cheer "Jackey," "Bill" and "Frankie" too!
To "Ab" and "George" all praise is due!
Cheer "Bob" and "Jack" till they're sore ears!
To "Mac" who coached them give three cheers!
Till sun, moon and stars can hear the roar!

Let chaos reign forever more!
Northampton's vanquished, thrice hurrah!

Newton, Newton wins today!
Last Wednesday the locals defeated the Abington team 30-15. Each team was in poor shape on account of the loss of good men and for that reason the game was rather slow.

The second team lost to the Tilton A. C. of Winthrop. This is the first game the second team lost as they have been doing excellent work this year. Every man on the team had an off night on shooting, which was the chief reason for their losing the game. Next Wednesday the strong Lawrence Y. M. C. A. team plays here. This is their first appearance in five years and promises to be a good game. A most interesting athletic meet is to be held Jan. 12 in the local gymnasium. Somerville, Brockton, Quincy and Newton competing.

The Hall-Mark of the Shoe

There is a standard in shoes quite as convincing as that which guarantees any superlative article.

The hall-mark of gold or silver is not more exacting than the "Goodyear Welt" which stamps the shoe of the highest standard.

To the shoe manufacturer and to the shoe dealer Goodyear Welt denotes a shoe fashioned by the perfect system of machinery provided by the United Shoe Machinery Company.

THE GOODYEAR WELT

American genius in the Goodyear Welt system has shattered the traditions of centuries and the perfect shoe is the result.

Machinery has supplanted man. In every important process in the manufacture of shoes the machinery does the work with a precision, effectiveness and attractiveness that the human hand can never approach.

In every factory in the world where shoes of the highest grade are made the Goodyear Welt System is in operation because persons of discernment everywhere demand them.

The United Shoe Machinery Company, Boston, Mass., furnishes without charge, upon request, an alphabetical list of all welt shoes sold under a name or trade-mark, and with it a book describing the Goodyear Welt process in detail with pictures of the marvelous machines employed.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

Those who attended the New England Conference of Clubs at Hotel Vendome last February will be interested to know that it will be repeated again this season by the invitation of the Rhode Island Federation. January 25 has been selected as the date and Providence as the place. The coming together of the workers from the different New England states was found to be of real value since there are so many problems which seem to be interdependent. As in so many other matters Massachusetts took the initial step and it is to her credit that she did. The program has not as yet been announced, but readers may expect to find something in regard to it in these columns in the near future. Success to these New England Conferences. May there be some definite results obtained from them.

A Conference on Home Economics will be conducted by that department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs at Newtonville in the Technical High School on Wednesday, Jan. 11, at 2:15 p. m. The subject to be presented is: "How Artistic Homes may be Economically Planned and Furnished." Miss Helen Louise Johnson of Good Housekeeping will speak upon house planning and Miss Flora McDonald upon house furnishings. These talks will be illustrated with the stereopticon, plans, fabrics of various kinds, wall papers, rugs, etc.

The conference comes as the guest of the Newton Federation and will take the place of the usual mid-winter meeting of this Federation. A buffet luncheon may be secured at the school building by those who desire to visit the school during the morning session. There will be a social hour at the close.

A large number of visiting club women are expected and the Newton clubs should send good delegations for it promises to be a profitable and inspiring meeting.

There will be a union meeting of the clubs of Newton Highlands at the Congregational Church on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 7, at 2:30 p. m.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde of Floral street on Monday afternoon at 2:30.

On Tuesday morning, Jan. 10, will be held the Current Events Class of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

The Auburndale Review Club will meet with Mrs. Winslow of Woodland road on Jan. 10.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Jan. 11 "The Manufactories of the Commonwealth" will be continued.

The subject for the meeting of the Newton Centre Women's Club next week Thursday morning will be "The Princess Far Away," by Edmund Spenser.

On Friday afternoon, Jan. 13, the West Newton Women's Educational Club will have a program devoted to work for the sick. Miss Riddle, matron of the Newton Hospital, will give a brief address, Miss Gertrude Melick, the school nurse, will tell of her work among the school children, Miss Marie Willett Howard of Simmons College will follow with a demonstration lecture on cooking for the sick. A social and tea will close the afternoon. The meeting is open to outsiders upon payment of the guest fee.

Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson spoke before the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Jan. 2 upon "Temperance," calling her topic "New Light upon an Old Subject." The lecture was much enjoyed by all who were present. On account of the union meeting of the Newton Highlands Clubs on Saturday of this week there will be no meeting of the Monday Club on Jan. 9.

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. Emery W. Clark on Monday afternoon. Miss Bacall was in charge of the program, the general topic being "The Political Essays of James Russell Lowell." Miss Bacall touched upon Lowell's political life and read extracts from the political essays. Because of illness, Mrs. Theodore Piser was unable to entertain the members of the Waban Woman's Club on Monday afternoon, Jan. 2. The program included piano numbers by Miss Marion Dearborn, violin selections by Miss Alice Gleason and two groups of songs by Mrs. Carroll J. Swan. The accompanists were Mrs. Katherine Forristall and Miss Gertrude Belcher. All the artists were heartily enjoyed and most cordially received by the audience. An informal tea was served at the close.

In spite of the severe storm on Tuesday morning a large number of members and guests of the Auburndale Review Club met at the Congregational Church to welcome Dr. Richard Burton of the University of Minnesota. The program opened with the singing of a group of songs by Mr. Charles E. Wood, with Mrs. Nelson Freeman at the piano. After which Mrs. Joseph Cook was called upon to introduce the speaker, who had been her friend for many years.

Dr. Burton's subject was "The Theatre and the People," a lecture, which, he said, he had given in every state of the Union except Wyoming, and one that should have a wide hearing.

Fiction, he said, is exclusive and aristocratic in comparison with the drama, which is the oldest and most natural form of story-telling. Its great power depends upon the fact expressed by Tennyson, that "Things seen are mightier than those heard." The dramatic instinct is natural to youth and should be taken advantage of. We should remember that the abuse of a good thing is nothing against the thing itself.

France and Germany have acknowledged the power of the theatre by subsidizing it.

He then traced the prejudice to the theatre to the old Puritan element and to the character of the plays themselves. But now is the psychological moment to take a personal interest in the theatre, for we are having a veritable re-birth of literary drama. We are beginning to take it seriously. Ibsen may be said to be the begetter of this re-birth. There have followed illustrious examples in all the countries of Europe, France pre-eminently, but America has lagged behind. There are, however, several who are producing works of artistic and literary value. Twenty-five years ago a current play in book form was unknown. There is an immense significance in the fact that at the present day the book is simultaneous or comes out immediately after the presentation of a play upon the stage. It is our business to be intelligent play hearers and we should be trained to demand art, truth and decency in our plays. The opportunity to go prepared to the playhouse comes only through the previous reading of the play. There are certain subtleties and beauties which can be perceived only through the reading process. The periodicals are helping on the work with their serious exploitations of the theatre. The schools and colleges with their courses and performances are helping to train theatre audiences, teaching the youth to know a good thing from a bad and striving to create a taste.

We are certainly moving on to better things. What ought the stage to do for us? It should give us truth and beauty. That is, it should give us a representation of life without sensation. It should present the deeper aspect of truth. We should be able to ask of a play, Does it do me good? Does it leave me better? Does it help me to live? We should welcome certain kinds of tragedy, but we do not want misery for its own sake.

Comic opera he termed as frivolous, light, evil, hurtful from all points of view. The constant attendance upon it is turning the brain into mush and those who go are moving quite definitely toward the madhouse. Vaudeville he found a shade better in that there is usually the one act sketch which is often very good. But when he went for one of those he always made sure of the time it was coming on and went merely for that and came away when that was over. We must demand ethical truth and purity, and those plays that appeal to the higher truth of life.

We have a distinct personal duty in the matter and should never turn our backs upon the theatre. We must go to it, but we must bring to it culture and conscience.

In closing he spoke of the work of the Dramatic League of America, he urged the clubs to include some consideration of the subject in their programs and set forth the advantages of the municipal playhouse, recommending that it be made the parallel of the library.

On Tuesday afternoon Dr. Richard Burton spoke before the Newtonville Woman's Guild upon "Chanticleer." He prefaced his remarks with some account of Rostand's earlier works, "My Lady Far Away," "The Romanesque," and "L'Aiglon." He outlined the story of the play, characterized it as an allegory rather than a symbolism and gave an interpretation of the various acts, pointing out that much of it is a satire upon society.

Dr. Burton is a great favorite with the members from his course of lectures last year and it is needless to say that he was much enjoyed.

The Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning. The reports so far as given show that the work is going on satisfactorily. The Stamp Savings committee have collected from the children this fall $139.30, not quite so large an amount as last year, owing to fewer collections, but the weekly average has been about the same.

Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, secretary of the Nonantum Day Nursery Association, spoke briefly of the work being done at Stearns Neighborhood House. She spoke of the house as an experiment station and like the physician it constantly is working towards its own elimination. The workers have found that in order to be of any permanent assistance to the children they must understand the home conditions. There are 27 volunteer workers who go there weekly. Last summer it was made a modified milk station. Mrs. Wilkins told the members that the women of the clubs should do more for the less fortunate women and girls of Newton. The house stands every time for self-help and self-reliance. Every child in every class pays something for what it is getting. Thus it is enriching rather than impoverishing those who go there.

end the present service of five members of the Board of Aldermen and eight members of the school committee. The large number retiring from the school committee being due to the recent change in our city charter reducing the membership from 14 to 7.Three members of the Board of Aldermen retire after a service of six years each, one after five years and one after three years. It is most obvious that all of these gentlemen have been of great value to the city thru the experience gained by long and consecutive service. Mr. Stone has been a most valued member, and during the last year, chairman of the public works committee and has given the most painstaking service. Alderman Doherty, altho a Democrat in state politics, was honored by his colleagues by the unanimous election as vice-president of the board—an action which speaks louder than mere words as his merit as an official and as a man. Mr. Doherty has been an extremely valuable man, both in committee and the board. Mr.
Underwood also has been of great service by counsel and advice, altho chary of speech. Mr. Burr has proved himself one of the most independent investigators in the history of the city.
Careful and methodical, he has gone to the root of every problem which has come before him and has been a most worthy chairman of the important committee on finance. Mr. Lyons, too, has had a most practical knowledge and experience which has been of value.The retiring members of the school committee are Hon. Marcus Morton and Messrs. Abbot Bassett, W. L. Garrison, Jr., Charles A. Brown, Albert S. Hutchinson, Alfred E. Alvord, Joseph N. Palmer and Herbert Stebbins. All of these gentlemen deserve the gratitude of the community for their public spirit in accepting an office which is more or less perfunctory. Newton is indeed fortunate in having men of such high character, willing to give their time and effort to serve her, even in places which are not in the public limelight.

FINE NEW QUARTERS.

The Newton Trust Company will occupy its newly renovated banking rooms next Monday morning after many weeks of temporary occupancy in the basement. The company has made many changes which will appeal to its lady customers and anticipates their commendations. A detail of the changes made will not be printed until next week, as invitations have been sent out to customers and friends of an informal opening on Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. A committee consisting of Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. Frank A. Day and Mrs. William F. Bacon have charge of the arrangements and a most enjoyable social affair is promised.

SONS OF VETERANS' ELECTION.

stallation of the officers-elect of the J.

Veterans, in Masonic Hall, Newtonville, installing officer was Mr. Gilbert Bowker of Jamaica Plain and Mr. A. C.

Watertown, acted as guide. The following officers were duly installed:

BOYLSTON ST. SUBWAY

PLAN EXPLAINED BY MR. DANIEL A. GRIFFIN

The Boylston street plan for subway extension and the improvement of transportation facilities in Boston is the suggestion advanced by public-spirited citizens from all parts, who have joined hands under the name of "Boylston Street Merchants' Association," because of the location of the route proposed and also through recognition of the fact that early support was secured on Boylston street for the plan.A glance at the map herewith will show how effective this improvement which we suggest will be. It provides a maximum of service throughout a very large district. This district in Boston represents about one-half of Ward 7, one-half of Ward 10 and one-half of Ward 19, all of Ward 11, and all of Ward 25; population in 1909, 74,548; property valuation $457,011,000.In the suburban district it will serve a population of about 100,000, and representing a property valuation of about $215,064,000.All of the main thoroughfares in this area converge or lead into Boylston street.The need of that part of the suburban district to the west of Boston—Brighton, Allston, Brookline, the Newtons, Watertown and Waltham, for more efficient transportation service has long been recognized. This service must be extended through means of a subway.
Whatever location may be determined on it must proceed through and under a section representing more than 35 per cent of the total property value of the city of Boston within the city limits.
The claims for subway extensions and improvements put forth by other sections, South Boston and Dorchester particularly, are in no way of such importance as are the needs of this section.The question at issue is, as to where and how a maximum of safe, rapid and efficient transportation may be had, and that with due regard for the economic factors in the case, so as to provide improvement without loss to any.We on Boylston street have simply come forward to point out that the whole section of the Metropolitan district to the west of Boston will really be adversely affected by that which is now being advanced. We are also trying to conserve and improve present values both of property and of business interest in the city, and we believe that our plan for a subway has everything of advantage to commend it.Without doubt the long way subway idea supplies the needed solution of our rapid transit problem, the underground way utilizing locations already established as avenues of approach, those having some business growth evident thereon, from suburban communities through the business centre, and these tubes should supply the two very necessary features, express and accommodation service. The long way, through line subway has the further advantage that it will help to open up and extend the business area of the city.As ordered by the act of the Legislature, the proposed Riverbank Subway is located under the Park street station, under the Common, thence to a point or points under the Charles River embankment and Park, thence to Harvard Bridge to a point under Beacon street, to Charlesgate East, where the western outlet has been finally located.Up to this time no stations have been located in the Riverbank Subway, and probably none will be, at other points than at Charlesgate East, Park street and at the junction of Charles and Chestnut streets.The most objectionable feature in our whole subway situation is that of Park street. This station has acquired importance as a terminal, when as a distributing point it serve a section of which it is not the centre. The people in the district from State street, south to Summer and east from Tremont street, and who live to the west or south of Boston are forced to use this station when better facilities should be afforded them. A glance at our map will show an area of considerably greater radius which would be much better accommodated by the improvements suggested in the Boylston street plan.When the Cambridge subway is opened, congestion at this terminal will be almost unendurable, and, indeed, conditions are so today. People from the west and northwest of Boston, from Winchester, Arlington, Lexington and other centres who now, because of fast service, use the Sullivan square route, will then, because of the more attractive environment, use the new Cambridge route. Therefore, it must be evident that Park street will have to bear much more than its share of traffic under the new conditions.The Riverbank route also makes an ending at Park street by means of a loop south of the present Park street station, and with only slightly increased facilities for outlet at the surface, will with its additional quota of travel, cause a still greater increase of congestion here.
Its route is through a residential section whose population would be better served by surface lines. Park street, because of this congestion, is a great obstacle in the path of business progress.
The earlier this obstruction is removed or reduced, the better it will be for the business man, real estate owner and the general public.Express service is the only possible utility the few who favor this subway can claim for it, but it is doubtful if express service can be realized in this tube with its ending at Park street station, as the time gained in transit must certainly be lost in the congestion in the terminal. Its cost of construction was estimated at $3,700,000, but this has lat-terly been found to be much too low.
The cost of subways, unfortunately, is not limited to the cost of their construction, the major expense in the building of this subway would be in the damage costs to be assessed by property owners on the city of Boston. Estimates on this item that I have received vary from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000.The people on Beacon street have objected strongly to the Riverbank route in its present location and the fact that stations might be demanded was not the least of their reasons for objecting to it, though stations would be of littleuse except to a few as has been recently shown, and would greatly increase costs of construction and maintenance.These facts are important as indicating the small economic advantage of this route to the city of Boston itself.
The Riverbank route has had many setbacks during the four years since its construction was authorized; the most recent evidence of the impracticability of its location was indicated by the Boston Elevated and others who showed the engineering difficulties and traffic obstacles in the way of its extension from Charlesgate East to the "Three Corners."This is another strong argument against the location under the Riverbank because it may forever block any future extension of this subway, should future growth and progress warrant such extension. The location under the Riverbank has seemed to be acceptable because it was under public land for a greater part of the way, but every expensive item of cost are met with at the start from the necessity of the removal and relocation of the net work of sewers, water mains, gas pipes, conduits, etc. While the Riverbank Subway makes a saving in the matter of expense for the shoring up of buildings for a considerable extent over this route because there are none, the necessity of providing extreme measures for making the tunnel water tight will, it is estimated, fully offset this item.The Riverbank Subway ending, at Park street, it will be seen from the map, is under the Common at the left of the Cambridge line and there forms a loop having a radius of about one hundred feet. This will undoubtedly interfere with the roots of those grand old trees which are the most beautiful feature of the whole Common. Every citizen with a spark of feeling or right sentiment should oppose this desecration of the Common for commercial purposes.The fact that the operating company has no possible opportunity for realizing any income through operating this subway to offset the cost of rental, affects the community to the extent that the company will find it inconvenient to furnish either as good or so much service, owing to the increased cost, as it might under more favorable conditions. These are a few of the many reasons why the Riverbank Subway should not be built.We have been talking rapid transit in Boston for many years; we have not obtained rapid transit up to this time for the reason that makeshift and incompetent propositions have been advanced and great loss has resulted to the whole community thereby.In the Boylston street plan we suggest the extension of the present Tremont Street Subway up Boylston street to accommodate four tracks, the two inner for express service and the two outer for local or accommodation service, to extend over a route as shown on the map, to the junction of Beacon street, Commonwealth and Brookline avenues, a distance of about one-third of a mile further than is afforded by the Riverbank route. Up to the bridge on Boylston street over the Boston & Albany railroad we recommend a continuous platform arrangement ten feet or more wide on both sides as having many advantages, among others that stations can be built at new points in the subway as future demands on the part of the public may require, at very small expense, and without obstructing traffic.Four new stations are shown: at Massachusetts avenue, Copley Square, Arlington street and Park Square. To this latter point we suggest bringing the Cambridge line, there to turn on a loop and return at grade, the Tremont street subway being widened to contain two tubes, one on each side of the present subway, the building of which will not interfere with the continuance of the traffic therein during construction, to accommodate this improvement. We further suggest the extension of the Boylston street subway under the present subway under Tremont street, and tunnel under Washington street to the South Station under Essex street. The outer or accommodation tracks in the Boylston street subway are to be extended for this latter service, and later may be continued to South Boston.Not the least commendable factor in our plan is that it provides for conditions and requirements looking to the future, a condition, it would seem, sadly lacking in subway plans of the past. We consider that our plan will do much for Boston and for Greater Boston. It will adequately accommodate suburban districts it is designed to serve; it should fully relieve the congestion at Park street station. It offers a reasonable solution for the problem of a connection with the South Station and from a point connecting the Tremont street subway and Washington street tunnel, where such connection will best serve the general public. As indicating requirements at this point, consider the needs of those patronizing the theatres.
Practically all of the latter are in the immediate vicinity of the Boylston street station and are nightly attended by certainly not less than 25,000 people. When you consider that from this point, Boyl-ston street corner of Tremont street, it is quite impracticable for people to get to the South station other than on foot, you may at once realize the great lack of efficient accommodation at this point. For several years requests have been made for service between these points, but no satisfactory connection has been obtained. When the Washington street tunnel was built no arrangement was made for connection with the South Station. Today, as one consequence, a district of from ten to fifteen times the area occupied by our principal retail district has been made to suffer from a one-way line of traffic which practically ends at a point that has nothing of interest to the business population who are compelled to use it.The turns indicated in our route at the B. & A. R. R. tracks and at Commonwealth avenue are at very slight angles and the curves long, in fact from the engineer's point of view the route is thoroughly practical. Boylston street is the principal avenue of approach to business Boston from the western suburbs. Cars from centres in our Metropolitan area, representing a population of over one million, now traverse this thoroughfare, and the establishment of a new artery designed solely for electric railway transportation is wholly unnecessary.No less an authority than Mr. George A. Kimball, chief engineer of the Boston Elevated, has remarked favorably on the Boylston street plan from an engineer's point of view. He certainly should be considered a competent critic.
Another eminent engineer has said that our way of handling the grade crossings looked very good.This plan has met with the favorable opinion of all to whom it has been shown, and there can be no doubt but that it contains in large measure the key to the solution of the rapid transit problem.As a citizen of Greater Boston, do you not want the best?We believe that the Boylston Street Plan is the answer.

DAVIS—CORWITH.

At the Brick Presbyterian Church, New York, Monday noon, Miss Louise Corwith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry N. Corwith of Riverside Drive, was married to the Rev. Robert Davis, son of the late Rev. Dr. William H.
Davis, a former pastor of Eliot Church.
Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton was the officiating clergyman. The church was decorated with palms, smilax and poinsettia. The bride was waitressed, but Mr. Edward A. Davis, brother of the groom, was best man.
Rev. Mr. Davis and his bride will spend the honeymoon in the Adirondacks and on their return will reside in Engle-

PEOPLE of NEWTON!

Do you prefer GOOD or BAD transportation?
The Riverbank Subway is a mere makeshift.
It will not supply Rapid Transit.
It will contain but TWO tracks.
If built, the residents of the Back Bay will demand and compel the building of stations, and thus RAPID TRANSIT WILL BE LOST to the Suburbs to the West.The BOYLSTON STREET PLAN PROVIDES RAPID TRANSIT in a THROUGH DIRECT ROUTE by a FOUR-TRACK SUBWAY. The two inner tracks for EXPRESS SERVICE, the two outer tracks for ACCOMMODATION SERVICE. You can go ANYWHERE QUICKLY by means of the Boylston Street Subway as proposed.The Riverbank Subway lands you only at Park Street, no matter where you want to go.The Boylston Street Plan insures to you the opportunity to get anywhere on a five cent fare within the five-cent zone.The Riverbank Subway will cause you to pay two fares in many more instances than you are now compelled to pay.Get the PAMPHLET "Boylston Street Subway Plan," with

UNITARIAN CHURCH DEDICATED AT CHESTNUT HILL

The beautiful new edifice of the First Church in Chestnut Hill (Unitarian) was dedicated last Sunday afternoon before a congregation which taxed its capacity to the utmost. The program included organ selections by Mr. H. G. Tucker, anthems by the choir, congregational singing, a report of the building committee by Mr. S. H. Essenden, a response in behalf of the church by Mr. R. M. Saltonstall, dedication service in charge of the pastor, Rev. Edward Hale, prayer by Rev. James De Normandie, and addresses by Rev. S. A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, Rev. W. H. Lyon of Brookline and Rev. Howard N. Brown.

The new church is located on the southerly side of Suffolk road, within sight of Hammond street and near the Chestnut Hill railroad station. The site has many trees, a large elm standing at the right of the entrance and with a number of spruces in the rear, makes a fine setting for the building.

The plans are from the office of Mr. J. Lovell Little, Jr., of Boston, the design being of the English country church type.

The church proper is built of Mt. Hope seam-faced stone, which is very rich in color, varying from yellow to dark red, and giving in mass a warm and harmonious effect. The Sunday school portion is finished in stucco.

There is a front entrance leading through a tiled vestibule into the auditorium and an entrance into the tower approached by a winding path from Suffolk road, where the floor is also tiled and with which both auditorium and the Sunday school room communicate.

There is also an outside entrance to the Sunday school room at the rear.

The auditorium, with a seating capacity of 160, has an open timber roof, with plastered and tinted walls and a cypress wainscot. At the chancel opening is a limestone arch erected as a memorial to the late George C. Lee, English antique glass give a subdued and restful light.

The pews, pulpit and furniture are of oak. The chancel and pulpit are opposite the front entrance, to the left being an ante-room. The organ loft and choir gallery are placed in the tower at the left of the auditorium, very near the chancel.

The Sunday school room in the wing seats about 75 and has its service room and committee and class rooms. This, as well as the other portions of the building, is finished in cypress.

The basement contains the steam heating plant, the room for the organ motor and storage rooms. Electric lighting will be used.

The cost was about $25,000.

POP CONCERT COMING.

The Knights Templars of Gethsemane Commandery, who live in Newton, Waltham, Watertown and Needham, have arranged for three entertainments this winter, which will probably set a new mark in the entertainment line.

The first entertainment will take place on Friday evening, Jan. 13, at the Masonic building, Newtonville, and will be a pop concert, whist and dance. Music will be furnished by musicians from the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and the program for the evening's entertainment is sufficiently varied to meet the personal tastes of all.

The members of the Commandery will appear in uniform, which with the costumes that will undoubtedly be worn by the ladies, will make the scene very attractive.

DANCING PARTY.

A pretty and enjoyable dance was given at the Newton Club on Monday evening by Mrs. Charles H. Ames and Mrs. J. D. Roquemore of West Newton in honor of their daughters, Miss Katherine Ames and Miss Terese Roquemore. About one hundred and fifty guests were present from the Newtons and neighboring places. They were received by Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Roquemore, Miss Ames and Miss Roquemore, and dancing followed. The ushers were Messrs. Lawrence Mayo, Jr., Henry Robbins, J. Dana Thomas, Gerret Perkins, John Avery, Jr., Lionel Drew, Robert George, John C. Jones, William Salisbury, Russell Hall and Carleton McLellan.

MR. SPINNEY DEAD.

Professor William Anthony Spinney, who was stricken with a paralytic shock while lecturing in Amesbury before the members of the Elizabeth H. Whitier Club Thursday afternoon, died at the home of Benjamin F. Sargent on Sunday. He was about 65 years old. Professor Spinney some years ago taught school in Amesbury, and during his residence there he made a wide acquaintance, which he had always cherished since. Because of this he had arranged with Mrs. Sargent for his series of lectures at her home, the fifth of which he was giving when he was stricken. Professor Spinney was born in Nova Scotia, but had been in the United States a long time. He was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1878, and then taught in Amesbury, and later for several years was principal in Newton Centre of the Mason School. He resigned from his position to take up the study of deep breathing, and had lectured extensively on this subject in many places. He also had many pupils in the science of deep breathing, and wrote a book upon it: "Health Through Self-Control in Thinking, Breathing and Eating," published a few years ago. Professor Spinney was twice married and is survived by his second wife, who was with him in Amesbury when he died. She formerly was Miss Mary Sylvester of Newton Centre. He is survived also by a son by his first marriage, Edmund Spinney.

Geneva Lithia Water unites with the uric acid, passes it from the system by natural means, and rheumatism, kidney, bladder, liver and stomach troubles go with it. Geneva Water stops the gases forming in the stomach, prevents fermentation and insures perfect digestion, enabling the stomach properly to nourish the brain. To quote one of our leading physicians, Geneva Water "is a tonic, a solvent and a food almost as well as a medicine." In action it is very cleansing and healing.

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton met Monday at the Newton Club house, the hostesses being Mrs. Charles Dennison, Mrs. George P. Bullard, Mrs. Charles Wyman and Mrs. Thomas Whidden.

After being received by the hostesses the regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, opened the business meeting, reading a letter from Miss Martha Berry of the Berry School at Rome, Ga., thanking the chapter for the gift of $50 which pays the yearly scholarship of a boy in the school.

Following the delightful singing of a group of songs by Miss Clara Bullard, accompanied by Miss Marion Bell, the Rev. J. Edgar Park spoke to the chapter on "Boys' Clubs."

The members and friends then adjourned to the tea room, where a pleasant hour was enjoyed.

CARD OF THANKS.

Miss S. M. Dunklee wishes to express her thanks for all the kindness shown during the recent illness and death of Miss Maggie Ferguson. The flowers sent, the services of the singers, and all other attentions are warmly appreciated.

BRAE BURN WINS.

In a rough and close hockey game Brae Burn won from Rindge M. T. S. College by a score of 5 to 2. The game was full of attempts to trip and a great deal of body checking. Toward the end of the second period Fritz secured the puck at his own goal and swept through the opposing players down the rink and shot a goal that tied the score and an extra period of five minutes had to be played to decide the winner.

LASELL SEMINARY.

Prof. Paul Pearson of Swathmore College will give a lecture recital entitled "Paul Lawrence Dunbar," a Lasell Seminary at 7:45, Thursday evening, Jan. 19, 1911. The public is cordially invited to attend.

More than five hundred guests were present at the marriage at noon Tuesday in the newly-dedicated First Unitarian Church, in Lynn, of Rev. Albert Haven Robinson, minister of the Unitarian Church at Newton Centre, and Miss Margery Choate Newhall, daughter of Mrs. Emma and the late Lucien Newhall of 281 Ocean street, Lynn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Albert Lazenby, assisted by the father of the bridegroom, Rev. Perley J. Robinson of Littleton, N. H. The bridesmaids were Misses Ruth Vatcher of Hopedale, Margaret Kettel of Lexington, Katherine Jones of West Newton and Marian Richards of Brookline. Miss Elsie Thomas of Cambridge was maid of honor, and Rev. Sydney Bruce Snow of Concord, N. H., best man. The bride wore a gown of white satin with Duchess lace trimming and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids. The ushers were Samuel Oliver of Dorchester, Howard Robinson of Littleton, N. H., Frederick Melcher of Newton Centre, Dr. Ware Johnson of Newburgh, N. Y., and Alfred Chase and Everett Black of Lynn. About 250 persons were seated at a wedding breakfast which followed a reception at the home of the bride's mother. The wedding was the first to be celebrated in the new church. The bridal couple will live in Newton Centre.

LODGES.

A pretty and largely attended snowball party under the auspices of Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., was held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville, last Tuesday evening. One of the features of the affair was the throwing of balls made of confetti at the guests. Dancing was enjoyed from 8 to 12. Music, Haynes' Orchestra. The success of the affair was largely due to the work of the committee, Mr. George W. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, the Misses Kilburn and Smithers and Mr. Ernest Payne.

Our friends are like our clothes—unless they wear well we get little satisfaction out of them.

In honor of the engagement of her daughter, announced a few days ago, Mrs. Guildford M. Stuart of 183 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, gave a reception and tea at her residence Friday afternoon. Her daughter, Miss Bertha Bell Stuart, is engaged to Lewis C. Conant of Hunnewell Hill, Newton, and their marriage is to take place next September. In the reception room at Mrs. Stuart's, the decorations were of American Beauty roses, while in the drawing room quantities of yellow roses and other flowers of that color were used effectively. In the tea room, the table was trimmed with many yellow jonquils. The hostess had to assist her as pourers Mrs. Cyrus S. Chapin, Mrs. Frank A. Schirmer, Mrs. Edward H. Haskell, Mrs. Willis G. Parmlee, Mrs. Norman Marshall and Mrs. Samuel A. Shannon. A group of young girls in white and yellow gowns, and including the Misses Helen Chapin, Marian Tucker, Margaret Weston, Elizabeth Polhemus, Margaret Loring and Marjorie Bostwick, assisted.

NEW OFFICE.

A new store and office—commodious, attractive and completely equipped—is being provided by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the Newton and Watertown district. This store will be located at 311 Centre street, which is the most convenient place in Nonantum square.

The Edison Company is planning to make this new store and office one of the most attractive places anywhere in the Boston suburban district. It will be a delightfully pleasant store to visit, and in it users of electric current for light, heat or power will find ample opportunity to select things that will be much to their liking and convenience. This store is very conveniently located for both the Watertown and Newton customers, who can call there to have lamps exchanged, to make any payments they wish on their bills, and applications from new customers will also be received there.

The store, which will be completely equipped with all kinds of electric appliances, will be in charge of Mr. Joseph M. Bassett, who has been for years a resident of the Newton and Watertown district. He will be ably assisted by a corps of experienced employees. Extensive improvements have been made to put the store in the attractive shape it will be in. The space occupied was formerly divided into two stores, but the separating walls have been removed, so that the store is broad, deep and ample.

N. H. S.

At the Brae Burn ice rink Friday the Newton High School seven defeated Stone School, 8 to 0. Newton had the advantage at all times, and at the end of the first half led 6 to 0. Foote and Spaulding put up a fine game.

At the Newton gymnasium Friday Newton High defeated Thayer Academy 45 to 20.

"THE SOPHOMORE"

If it were possible for amateurs to be called semi-professionals, that word would apply to the work of the members of the Eliot Co-operative Club in presenting "The Sophomore" at the Hunnewell Club on Monday and Wednesday evenings of this week. The assembly hall was well filled on both evenings of the play. The fact that Mr. Ernest Wright had charge of the coaching explains quite a little the reason for the good work shown. But without the co-operation of every member of the cast it would have been impossible to produce the play without the amateur drag and waste of time which was so noticeably absent in this play. The character parts were all exceptionally well taken and the actors seemed to catch the college spirit in the numerous interesting situations as the play developed. Great credit for the successful carrying out of the play should be given to Mr. Winslow A. Dunne, manager; Mr. Charles W. Turner, assistant manager, and Mr. Draper Swan, stage manager. King's Orchestra furnished the music during the play and for the dancing which followed.

The cast:

COL. KINGSBURY HONORED

A complimentary banquet was tendered Col. Kingsbury, the retiring city clerk, on Monday evening at Players' Hall, West Newton, many of those attending the reception at City Hall remaining for the evening exercises.

The tables were spread in the small hall, the head table being placed on the stage and the only decorations were small flags. At the head table were seated Mayor Hatfield, C. I. Kingsbury, Col. W. M. Olin, Commander in Chief J. E. Gilman, Department Commander G. M. Fiske, Adjutant Stillings, Col. John L. Parker and Dr. Kingsbury. The menu bore a cut of Col. Kingsbury as he was during the Civil War. During the dinner to which 132 sat down, there were songs, including a parody on "My Bonnie," by "Billy Olin's gang," Commander Gilman sang the "Little Bronze Button" and "The Old Boys" and Col. Kingsbury sang "The Star Spangled Banner." After dinner the party went into the larger hall, where the speaking took place from the stage. Mr. John Flood, to whose indefatigable efforts the banquet was due, acted as toastmaster.

Mayor Hatfield was the first speaker. He said in part: It is a pleasure to testify to what Newton thinks of Col. Kingsbury and what he is. We are here today to honor a good citizen and a faithful official, and his great praise is due because he has performed his work with such kindness and consideration that all are glad to call him friend. We wish him Godspeed on his travels and that he may come back to live with us again.

Col. Olin responded for the Commonwealth. He said: Altho your ties here in Newton may be closer they cannot be deeper or tenderer than his own, as he had served with him and know that under the courtesy and urbanity of the colonel, he could be stern and most steadfast. He believed that no gentler, braver or more splendid specimen of manhood has ever been born than Col. Kingsbury. He closed by reciting O. W. Holmes' "My Comrade."

Hon. S. L. Powers, who was the next speaker, raised a laugh by a keen thrust at Mr. Flood, and said: That Col. Kingsbury had for 27 years been the city government of Newton. No Mayor has ever made a failure and most of us voted for Hatfield with the distinct understanding that the colonel was to stay at City Hall. He declared the colonel to be the human element in our municipal machine. Now that he is to leave us we wish him health, we wish him strength. In closing Mr. Powers said he was glad to pay his tribute to the true soldier, the true citizen and the true friend.

Commander in Chief John E. Gilman said that there was for him a touch of sadness in this gathering, because we realize that one we love was to leave us. He had been honored by the city, by the state and the nation, but I bring to him a love that is better than all. We call him "comrade" and it costs something to call a man "comrade." We know what kind of a man he is. He fought for the nation when the fabric of government was in danger. He responded bravely and faithfully to every call. There is not a stain on his character—not a word against him as a citizen or an official. We do well to honor such a man. The love of your comrade will never fail you and will follow you to the grave.

Dept. Commander G. M. Fiske brought the respect of the Mass. Department in a few brief words.

Rev. F. B. White said that the colonel was such a good man because he had a good wife and said that the finest thing about the gathering was that the colonel deserves it all.

Mr. G. M. Fiske spoke saying that the colonel was a typical veteran of the Grand Army.

Olin's "gang" then sang "We Old Boys" and as an encore gave their G. A. R. Cheer for Col. Kingsbury.

Commander Gilman then recited "My Comrade and I" with splendid effect.

A complimentary letter was read from Congressman Weeks, a few rhymes from Mr. Bradshaw and brief remarks by Mr. E. O. Childs, Mr. John L. Parker and Dr. I. W. Kingsbury.

President Matt B. Jones of the Board of Aldermen spoke of the happy optimism and the vitality which made us forget that the colonel was a septuagenarian and that it was almost a generation since he assumed the office he was now laying down. The years of '61-'65 were years of sacrifice and loyalty became habitual and thus equipped the veterans have made good citizens. Their passing is both a grievous loss and a glorious incentive. He closed with this quotation from Shakespeare: "How well in thee appears the constant service of the antique world when service sweat for duty, not for meed."

COL. ISAAC F. KINGSBURY.

A letter was read from Mr. Horatio Carter in which he described Colonel Kingsbury as a "perfect type of a Christian gentleman."

Col. Kingsbury was then introduced by Mr. Flood who said "he has been the friend of every man, woman and child in Newton."

The colonel was greeted with three hearty cheers and a tiger, and said in part: I must acknowledge that this has been a great day for me. I have trudged along, keeping the office going and have enjoyed it, as working for the city government is intensely interesting. The attention given by our business men to municipal work has placed us in the front rank of city governments. The heads of departments, too, are very valuable men and are doing immense service to the city. I shall not forget Newton because I am leaving now and I thank you for your kindness and I shall treasure this in my heart of hearts.

The exercises closed with singing "Auld Lang Syne."

NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED

A new Congregational Church to be known as the Union Church, was organized in Waban Wednesday evening with 81 members. The ecclesiastical council met in Waban Hall at 7:30 to consider the need and opportunity for a church in the district and on the result of a favorable examination, the council gathered in the Episcopal Church, where public services were held.

The council consisted of the churches in the Suffolk West Association, each represented by its pastor and delegate, together with Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D., of Boston; Rev. Andrew W. Archibald, D. D., of Newton Centre; Rev. Albert E. Dunning, D. D., of Brookline; Rev. George A. Hall of Brookline; Rev. Joseph B. Seabury of Wellesley Hills; Rev. James Clement Sharp of Waban; John Wells Morris of Boston and Samuel Usher of Cambridge.

The public service opened with prayer by Rev. Allen A. Stockdale, pastor of the Union Congregational Church of Boston. Addresses were made by Rev. James Clement Sharp, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, in whose house of worship the public services were held, and by Rev. Allen E. Cross, assistant pastor of the Old South Church, Boston. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Archibald, who has been holding services in Waban for the past three months, and through whose efforts largely the new church was organized.

The new church has secured a lot of land at the corner of Waban avenue and Beacon street, through the gift of William C. Strong, and $10,000 has already been pledged toward a house of worship.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY.

Channing Alliance celebrated its tenth anniversary with a reception in the church parlor on Tuesday afternoon. The room was attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers. Miss Fisher, the president, and Mrs. Harry Lutz received the guests. A daintily decorated birthday cake with its ten pink and white lighted candles adorned the tea table and attracted much attention. There was no set program for the occasion, but at intervals during the afternoon there was music under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee, the first number being a piano duet by Miss Gladys Barber and Mrs. Wetherbee. A little later a double quartet composed of members of the Alliance sang "Eudantiana" and "The Winter hath not a Blossom," by Reinecke. The singing, which was arranged at very short notice, came as a surprise and added much to the occasion. Everyone felt that the Alliance is exceedingly fortunate in possessing so much talent among its own number. Besides the ladies of the church many friends from neighboring churches were there to extend congratulations. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Ralph Emery, Miss Georgia Emery, Mrs. Henry T. Wade, Mrs. Robert Mandell, Mrs. Carlton Stanley, Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, Mrs. William F. Garcelon, Mrs. Edward M. Moore, Mrs. Frank T. Robinson, Mrs. J. Murray Quinby, Mrs. Charles B. Beason and Miss Maud B. Henry.

Fuller, Charles F. Mason, Edward D. VanTassel, E. E. Williams, Harry N. Milliken, Mitchell Wing, Chas. D. Burrage, Chas. E. Hatfield; Auditor, William E. Elder.

BROKE DOWN.

While responding to a call for assistance from Watertown on Wednesday evening about eight o'clock Engine 1 broke the axle of its forward wheels while on Galen street near Hunt street. A new set of forward wheels was obtained from West Newton and the engine from that village went to the Watertown fire as well. Engine 1 was repaired after considerable difficulty and while returning home the three horse hitch came away from the new axle and the horses ran away, dragging Driver John F. Cotton from his seat. His foot caught in some manner and his ankle was hurt. The horses ran thru Nonantum square, around the bank building, knocking the wooden cover off the drinking fountain, thru Bacon and Pearl streets and were caught near the corner of Pearl and Centre streets. Driver Cotton was taken to his home on Hermon terrace.

PEOPLE of NEWTON!

Do you prefer GOOD or BAD transportation?
The Riverbank Subway is a mere makeshift.
It will not supply Rapid Transit.
It will contain but TWO tracks.
If built, the residents of the Back Bay will demand and compel the building of stations, and thus RAPID TRANSIT WILL BE LOST to the Suburbs to the West.

The BOYLSTON STREET PLAN PROVIDES RAPID TRANSIT in a THROUGH DIRECT ROUTE by a FOUR-TRACK SUBWAY. The two inner tracks for EXPRESS SERVICE, the two outer tracks for ACCOMMODATION SERVICE. You can go ANYWHERE QUICKLY by means of the Boylston Street Subway as proposed.

The Riverbank Subway lands you only at Park Street, no matter where you want to go.

The Boylston Street Plan insures to you the opportunity to get anywhere on a five cent fare within the five-cent zone.

The Riverbank Subway will cause you to pay two fares in many more instances than you are now compelled to pay.

THEATRES

B. F. Keith's Theatre—The appearance of Eva Tanguay at B. F. Keith's Theatre always means crowded houses at every performance, and this season has been no exception to the rule. It is not surprising, therefore, that she is held over for another week, when she will sing the most popular of her songs and introduce some new features. Miss Tanguay is now singing an entirely new repertoire of songs, and her costumes are both pretty and startling. One of the "big" features is the song called "Oh! You Money," in which she throws handfuls of coins into the audience. An unusual novelty during the week will be the International Polo Players, an expert company that plays a real game of polo on the stage, the men riding on bicycles. Jack Connelly and Margaret Webb will also appear in a splendid comedy feature called "A Stormy Finish," while newcomers will be the Hopkins-Axtell company in a sketch full of humor in several scenes. The Alonzo-Braceo Troupe of European acrobats is one of the biggest and most sensational ever imported for the Keith circuit, and other features will be Keeler and Lee, dancers and Yankee and Dixie, two remarkably clever dogs.

Castle Square Theatre—"Jack and the Beanstalk" is such a triumphant success at the Castle Square that Mr. Craig has been forced by the public demand to continue it for another and fourth week beginning next Monday. It has broken all records at that house and the advance sale of seats is of tremendous proportions. Its popularity can only be compared with that of "The Circus Girl," which enjoyed a run of nine weeks two years ago. All the familiar features and several new specialties will form a part of the production during the coming week. Mary Young will continue to appear as Jack, with Mr. Craig as Sinbad, Donald Meek as the Fairy Queen, George Hassell as King Cole, Kate Ryan as Old Mother Hubbard, and a large chorus of 30 singers.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

The newly elected officers of Nonantum Aerie of Eagles were installed Wednesday in Nonantum Hall by G. W. P. John J. Mooney, assisted by G. W. C. James McTernan. The officers are: W. P. Frank Hughes; V. P., Albert Moore; C., Alfred G. Hastie; P. W., C. M. Hewitt; F. S., W. H. Thomas; J. J. James Stuart; treasurer, Frank Lewis; trustees, T. F. Delaney, W. P. Dalton, J. W. Murphy. An entertainment and refreshments, in charge of W. P. Sweeney, followed.

THE NEWTON TRUST COMPANY.

The remodelled rooms and quarters of the Newton Trust Company were informally inspected on Wednesday afternoon from four to six o'clock, the affair being made a social function by the directors of the company. The banking rooms were decorated with laurel and beautiful cut flowers and special electric lights. President Dwight Chester, Treasurer F. L. Richardson and the directors were the reception committee and made all their guests feel at home. The refreshment tables were presided over by Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. William F. Bacon, Mrs. Frank J. Hale, Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. Edward H. Mason, Mrs. James L. Richards, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Dwight Chester, Mrs. Albin R. Clapp, Mrs. Seward W. Jones, Mrs. Francis Murdock and Mrs. G. Fred Simpson.

Realizing that their former facilities for a banking and safe deposit business were entirely inadequate for a city like Newton, and believing that the best was none too good, the directors of the Newton Trust Company some months ago made arrangements to establish here offices and vaults of the most modern pattern amply sufficient to accommodate their rapidly growing business.

For many months men have been at work making the necessary changes and the new quarters were used for the first time on Monday of this week.

The banking rooms on the first floor have been arranged so that the customers have quarters, fitted with every convenience, including special up-to-date stationery and telephone service. A red velvet carpet and heavy plate glass desks add to the attractiveness to the room. The public rooms are larger than formerly and also have plate glass desks and every convenience.

But it is in the safe deposit department that the greatest changes have been made. The new vaults are impregnable to every known burglar device. The door, which weighs 15 tons, is composed of ten inches of drill proof steel backed with five inches of carborundum in which drill proof steel rods are imbedded. The vault itself is enclosed with ten inches of concrete reinforced with heavy steel rails, and surrounded with a network of electric wiring, with two feet of heavy masonry outside. The electric devices are so arranged that it is impossible to tamper with the vault after the door is closed, either from the outside or inside the building, without ringing a 20-inch gong attached to the outside of the building. The door is fitted with three time locks and the electric device is also controlled by a similar mechanism.

The vault contains 614 deposit boxes of various sizes, which will rent for $5 a year and upwards, one half Boston prices. Commodious coupon rooms, fitted with all conveniences, including plate glass desks are adjacent to the vault, and are finished, like the entire department, in mahogany and white enamel tile. A storage vault for trunks is on the same floor, with ample protection, also not so complicated as the main vault. A room is also provided on this floor for meetings of trustees, executors or committees, and provided with telephone service.

The entire vault construction was done under the direction of the foremost engineer in the country, and who supervised the vaults of some of the most modern and largest companies in Boston.

The cost of the changes exceeded $15-and the directors believe that Newton now has absolutely the best banking and deposit facilities in the suburbs of Boston and which harmonize with the high standard which the city has always demanded.

NEW CITY GOVERNMENT

COL. KINGSBURY GIVEN FINE SILVER SERVICE

The Board of Aldermen of 1911 was formally organized on Monday afternoon. The board of 1910 met at 2 o'clock, after its picture had been taken, and passed purely routine business, the report of the city treasurer being the principal matter received.

At 3 o'clock the 1911 board was called to order by City Clerk Kingsbury, and chose Alderman Avery as temporary chairman. After every member had responded to his name at the roll call, His Honor the Mayor was invited to administer the oath of office. Mayor Hatfield then appeared with Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton, and after prayer by Mr. Park, the members-elect were duly qualified by the Mayor. Five members of the school board, Capt. S. E. Howard, Fred H. Tucker, Albert M. Lyon, Oscar E. Nutter and William H. Rice, also took the oath.

The Mayor then delivered his annual address, which will be found in full in another part of this issue.

Alderman Matt B. Jones was then unanimously chosen president and took the chair, the Mayor retiring. Alderman Frank R. Moore was chosen vice-president, and Frank M. Grant was elected city clerk, after Col. Kingsbury had been invited to address the board. Colonel Kingsbury said he desired to express to the board his very deep appreciation of all the kindness shown to him and the honors which had been conferred on him. Francis Newhall was re-elected city treasurer and John C. Brimblecom elected clerk of committees, each by unanimous vote.

The Mayor submitted the nominations of Frank Bailey, as assessor for three years and of Hugh Campbell, Reuben Forknall, Joseph Byers, John C. Thompson, Frank E. Hunter, Alfred L. Barbour, Willis F. Hadlock, Benjamin F. Butler, Chauncey B. McGee, Bertrand V. Degen, Henry H. Read and Henry C. Daniels as assistant assessors and they were laid over until the next meeting.

Petitions of E. F. Barnes and H. H. Read for auctioneer licenses were granted, and hearings assigned on Feb. 6 on petitions for gasoline licenses of Ellen F. Curtis, Walnut street, and Grace B. Bliss, Chestnut Hill road, and of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. for track location on Elm road, and for pole location on Walnut street. Petitions were also received from Charles Bouveral to alter building on Cheney road, of E. M. McGrath for common victualler license on Washington street, of I. C. Ericson for intelligence office license, of the school committee to transfer $300 from its general appropriation to that for the Independent Industrial School.

The President announced the appointment of the following committees: Claims and Rules, Aldermen Moore, Heard, Chadbourne, Barker, Calkins, Finance, Aldermen Avery, Miller, Towle, Chadbourne, Blakemore, Cox, Bemis, ure to give you this token of regard and esteem, that you may in after years look back with pleasure on your service here.

Colonel Kingsbury said that language absolutely failed at such a time and there was nothing to do but absolute surrender. I wish it was within my power to express my feelings. I have had a reasonable pride in serving my city and I have enjoyed the work as city clerk. If I have had any success in that office it is also due to you, who have given me assistance and to the faithful employees in the office, Col. Kingsbury then described some of the work of the office and when he had finished the board adjourned.

An informal reception immediately followed, hundreds of friends who had received advanced information of the affair attending and tendered their regards and regrets to Col. Kingsbury. He was assisted in receiving by Mayor Hatfield and Mrs. Kingsbury and for nearly an hour a continuous line was formed to greet them. Heads of departments had tendered their services as ushers, but the throng was so insistent and pressing that no formal presentations were made.

The service presented to Col. Kingsbury consists of a coffee pot, tea pot, sugar bowl, water bowl, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, slop bowl, silver plate and two silver candlesticks with silver shades. The pieces bear a monogram and are of a beautiful pattern. The mahogany table is inlaid with different woods and bears a silver plate with this inscription:

"This silver service is presented as a token of friendship and esteem by past and present associates in the city government, to Colonel Isaac Franklin Kingsbury, City Clerk of Newton, Massachusetts, from 1885 to 1911, January 9, 1911."

A glass tray fits the top of the table and carries the silver.

Among those present were noticed Hon. A. R. Weed, Hon. E. W. Warren, Hon. George Hutchinson, Senator H. C. Mulligan, Representatives Geo. H. Ellis and T. W. White, Col. W. M. Olin, secretary of the Commonwealth, Commander-in-Chief John E. Gilman of the G. A. R., Department Commander G. M. Fiske, G. A. R., City Clerks E. J. Brandon of Cambridge, L. N. Hall of Waltham, A. P. Joyce of Medford and C. D. Jones of Melrose, H. B. Day, G. A. R., Martin, W. H. Rand, Mrs. A. S. Pratt, Mrs. B. P. Gray, Mrs. Whidden, Mrs. F. S. Webster, Miss Fanny B. Allen, Miss Morton, C. D. Cabot, V. E. Carpenter, Dr. C. A. Boutelle, Mrs. Elvira Peabody, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Mrs. H. P. Whitley, Mrs. F. R. Moore, C. S. Dennison, W. A. Knowlton, C. Adams, Francis Murdock, A. T. Syl-

After a recess these orders were adopted: Referring unfinished business, adopting rules and orders of 1910, for Mayor's address, for Kenrick fund committee, for printing Mayor's address, fixing office hours for city hall, authorizing payment of discharged laborers in various departments, authorizing postage to City Hall office, authorizing $1500 for sewer supplies, authorizing refund of excess water deposits, authorizing apportionment of sewer assessments for 1911, authorizing observance of Feb. 22, authorizing temporary loans for $1,500,000, fixing salary of city clerk at $1700 and assistant city clerk at $936, making grant of salaries and fixed charges for 1911, making certain grants for city expenses to Feb. 15 and granting Edison Company pole locations on shores of Crystal Lake.

At the close of the routine business, His Honor the Mayor was again invited to take the chair and while this was done a committee of the board brought into the chamber a beautiful set of silver and a handsome mahogany table. City Clerk Kingsbury was then addressed by the Mayor, who said, in part:

"My duty today is both pleasant and sad. It is a great honor and distinction to serve your native city for 27 years and a greater honor to have served so faithfully, so conscientiously and so efficiently as to make every citizen your friend. You have given the city the best that is in you and have brought your office to the point of perfection it has attained. You offered yourself to your city as a soldier, and then have given the town and city a service of love. Personally I have always felt that kindness and courtesy which is a part of your nature and it is indeed a pleas-

CLAFIN GUARD NOTES.

On Tuesday evening the United States inspection took place in the new armory. Lieut. Knox of the 24th U. S. Infantry was inspecting officer. Considering the fact that moving into new quarters just previous to such an event means a whole lot of work to get things into shape, didn't phase Captain Guilford at all, and Lieut. Knox found a full complement of officers and men present and equipment and property in excellent condition.

On account of the unpreparedness of the building the company commander was forced to exclude all visitors, and there was a goodly number present to witness the inspection. However, he should be pleased to see them again when better prepared to take care of them.

The company was honored by the presence of General Emery, quartermaster general of the state, and one of the Armory Commission. It was very pleasing to the officers and men to see the interest displayed by the general in regard to the inspection. He holds a warm place in the hearts of the enlisted men as well as the officers.

Lieut. Lowell was present as the representative of the regiment, and was very much impressed with the magnificent quarters and the up-to-date appointments.

LONDONMAYOR'S ADDRESSas well as pleasure brings a new problem to us in road building, and an added expense in the maintenance of our roads. I believe that through our street commissioner we are meeting this new condition of affairs satisfactorily.
It is my opinion that the day of the watering of streets has gone by and that the dust laying of the future will be solved by the use of oil. This will not only add to the comfort of our citizens but will be a preventative of disease and a saving in the maintenance of our roads.During the year the old lights on Commonwealth avenue, part of Washington street and Tremont street have been replaced by new magnetite lights, making those important thoroughfares as well lighted as those of any city in the Commonwealth.
The bridge at the end of Commonwealth avenue, known as Weston Bridge, ought to be replaced by a more modern structure. It is positively dangerous at present because of its narrowness. This expense should be borne not only by Newton and Weston but by the Metropolitan Park Commission and the County.
I have had several conferences with the Selectmen of Weston and the Metropolitan Park Commissioners in regard to this and hope to be able, at an early date to send a communication to your board in relation to this matter.CHARLES RIVER IMPROVEMENT.The condition of the Charles River has given the city officials a great deal of concern. The long continued drouth brought about a very bad state of affairs. The Metropolitan Park Commissioners have signified their intention of recommending that they be allowed to spend $25,000 the coming year in dredging the river. This ought to make a satisfactory beginning of a long needed improvement.FORESTRY DEPARTMENT. This department has carried on its war of destruction against the brown-tail and gypsy moths and now has them under good control. I understand that the work of this department is a source of great satisfaction to the state forester. The Playgrounds are receiving more attention than ever. The forest commissioner has flooded a part of Cabot Park for skating, and also a part of the yard back of the Burr School. For the first time in years there is good skating on Roughton's Pond, owing to the discontinuation of the power plant on Homer street. This pond has been lowered to an average depth of about three feet for safety. The new playground at Newton Highlands has been turned over to the city and is being put into shape. I would recommend that a lot on Grove street be hired for a playground for the children in Lower Falls.BUILDINGS. The year has brought to Newton the splendid new Y. M. C.
A. building and the new State Armory —structures of which we may well be proud.CITY OFFICIALS. Newton has been unique not only in the character but in the length of service of its city officials. During the year we have lost two officials by death: Benjamin Franklin Otis, City Auditor for more than 34 years, died Aug. 10, 1910. A man of sterling worth, honest, conscientious —a faithful public servant. Edwin Miller Fowle, Overseer of the Poor, for more than 17 years in the Charity Department, died Aug. 19, 1910. A genial, kindly, helpful friend to the needy—a faithful administrator whom the city will long miss.The declination of Col. Isaac F.
Kingsbury to longer serve as city clerk came to us all as a great shock.
Twenty-seven years, more than a quarter of a century of continuous, efficient faithful service deserves more than a passing word. No man could have performed the duties with more consideration and fidelity than he has. An official who came in closer contact with the citizens than any other in City Hall.
Every citizen of Newton is proud to call him friend. We all wish him Godspeed and a long life to enjoy his well-earned rest from his labors.Gentlemen: Your election to the city government gives you a great opportunity to serve the city of Newton. That we shall all work together harmoniously for the best interests of the city I am sure. As I said to your board last year I shall look to you for advice and assistance in carrying on the business of the city.SETTLED AT LAST.The Massachusetts General Hospital is to get more than $20,000 under the will of John Ashton of Newton, who died nearly half a century ago. The money since the death of Mr. Ashton has been tied up in trust funds and litigation.John Ashton of Newton conducted a barber shop in Spring Lane until his death in 1867. He left the residue of his estate to "the Massachusetts Hospital for diseased and wounded soldiers." Owing to certain trust provisions the bequest to the hospital did not become available until several years ago.
It then became necessary to decide what hospital was meant by the deceased, three claimants coming forward, the Massachusetts General Hospital, Massachusetts Homoeopathic Hospital and the Soldiers' Home. The court declared that owing to the fact that the Massachusetts General was known as the Massachusetts Hospital and conducted during the war a department for the care of the soldiers, it was the intent of the testator that it should get the money.LIEDERHEIM VESPERS.Next Sunday at 7.30 p. m. will be

Sanitary Science in the Kitchen

The importance of the kitchen as a factor in the well-being of the home should be recognized by insisting on the best sanitary conditions that modern sanitary science makes possible.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

It is now Governor Foss and ex-Governor Draper, and about 30,000 so-called Republicans are kicking themselves in the backwoods at the present time to think that they assisted in making that change. Newton men who voted for Mr. Foss may well ask themselves why they did it, after the Greater Boston plan proposed by Governor Foss in his inaugural.The General Court, organized on Wednesday with Hon. Joseph Walker, notwithstanding the dire threats of the Democrats that the redoubtable Martin M. Lomasney would capture that honor. Newton's representatives were given important committee assignments by the Speaker, Mr. Bothfeld received his former committee on Metropolitan Affairs, possibly one of the most important from a Newton standpoint of any in the House. Mr. Bothfeld was also given a surprise in the appointment as House Chairman of the Liquor Law committee. With the prominence which will be given this committee thru the coming contest to repeal the bar and bottle bill, Mr. Bothfeld will be considerably in the limelight during the session. Mr. Ellis was appointed House Chairman of his former committee on Labor, and is thoroughly competent to handle the questions which will be considered. He was also given an assignment on his former committee on Street Railways. Mr. White was again given a place on the important committee on Ways and Means, another committee which is of interest to Newton taxpayers. Senator Mulligan of this district was given the chairmanship of the committee on Metropolitan Affairs, and with Mr. Bothfeld on the same committee, Newton ought to stand a fair chance for anything reasonable.
Mr. Mulligan will also serve on Judiciary and Rules. Mr. Bothfeld and Mr. Ellis drew excellent seats, while Mr. White is not so well placed as last year.The above article was written for last week's issue but is equally timely now.There is a growing feeling that Senator Lodge will be returned, and, as one leading Republican put it, the wish may be father to the thought. Certain it is that the Lodge strength has increased and when the first ballot is cast next Tuesday in each branch, it may not be necessary to go into joint convention the next day.Until the senatorship is out of the way there is but little chance for real work.Governor Foss sidesteps the provisions of the new law, relative to careful examination of department estimates by the executive before action by the Legislature and sends them to the General Court without recommendation. This is pretty good for a man touted as a strong business man, and one can imagine what Governor Draper would have done under the same circumstances. Governor Draper never shirked his plain duty.Saturday is the limit for receiving new business without special permission of the committees on Rules, of both branches and City Solicitor Slocum has prepared bills authorizing the abolition of deputy election officers, to reimburse city for maintenance of the Industrial School, to authorize collection of tuition for non-resident pupils, to authorize division of wards into additional voting precincts, to authorize new bridge over Charles River at Commonwealth avenue, and for improvement of Charles River.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The popularity of the State Federation conferences is fully established, if one may judge from the attendance at the three already held, and particularly from the one at Newtonville on Wednesday. A problem confronts the Federation in the matter of securing adequate accommodations for all who wish to attend. The task of entertaining is becoming increasingly arduous, so that the smaller clubs are more and more reluctant to undertake it, and justly so.
But when they do, a distinct duty is imposed upon the club women, namely, that of engaging luncheon tickets at the stated time. If it is difficult to know so long beforehand whether or not one can attend, then bring a box luncheon, for it is manifestly unfair to all concerned to come expecting an opportunity for a ticket when none has been engaged. One person more or less would, of course, make no difference, but 50 or 75 more or less is quite another matter and places the hostess in a very embarrassing situation. This is not a new difficulty and it is hoped that in the course of time it may be overcome. "Line upon line, precept upon precept," seems to be as necessary today as in the days of the old prophet.Notices have been sent out by the State Federation of the dates and programs of the remaining conferences of the year. The list of dates will be given below and the programs from week to week as they come along.Jan. 18—Literature and Library Extension, Boston.

Feb. 3—Park Street Church, Boston.

Mid-winter meeting of Massachusetts State Federation.Feb. 11—Legislative Conference, Boston.Feb. 18—Conservation Conference, Boston.March 2—Civil Service Reform Conference, Watertown.A very attractive program has been arranged for the conference of the literature and library extension department of the Massachusetts State Federation which will be held at the Boston Public Library on Wednesday, Jan. 18, from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4. The morning session will be given to library extension in charge of Miss Helen Bigelow Bangs. Miss Zaidie Brown will speak upon "The Library and the Child," and Miss J. Maud Campbell on "The Work of Libraries with Foreigners." Each paper will be followed by discussion.The afternoon session will be in charge of Mrs. George B. Woodward, chairman of the department. Mrs.
Christabel W. Kidder will read the Third Act of "A Doll's House." Mr.
Alfred A. Brown will speak on "The Ethical, Social and Cultural Value of the Study of the Drama," and Mr.
Frank Chouteau Brown on "The Influence of the Public on the Drama." Opportunity will be given for discussion of both topics. Those attending are requested to enter the library at the Boylston street entrance.The Department of Conservation requests questions from the clubs to be sent to the chairman, Mrs. F. H.
Tucker, 206 Church street, Newton, before January 20, relative to phases of the subject of Conservation, either upon Waste and its Prevention or upon Local Problems. These questions will be discussed and if possible answered at the conference which the department will hold upon Feb. 18.January 16 Prof. Charles Zuehlbin will lecture before the Waban Woman's Club upon "Representative Government versus Democracy" in Waban Hall at 8 p. m. This will be the second lecture may be invited.The Monday Club of Newton Highlands will meet with Mrs. G. A. Salmon of Walnut street on Jan. 16.The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Anna Thompson of Hartford street at 2:30 on Jan. 16.At the meeting of the Auburndale Review Club to be held on Tuesday morning, Jan. 17, at the home of Mrs.

Edward Almy, there will be a business meeting and a discussion of plans of work for next year.On Jan. 17 at the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden will present a paper upon "William Morris."The Social Science Club will observe its 25th anniversary with a luncheon at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 1 o'clock.At the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday morning, Jan. 19, there will be a social service program.The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet at G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, Jan. 19, at 2:30.An unusually large number attended the meeting of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands at the home of Mrs. J.
F. C. Hyde on Monday afternoon. The program was in charge of Mrs. Hardy, who gave a resume of the Literary Essays of James Russell Lowell. As the club is having an American year she dwelt particularly upon the essays dealing with American subjects and closed with extracts from "A Certain Condescension in Foreigners." There was the usual social hour with refreshments.On Saturday afternoon the clubs of Newton Highlands held a union meeting in the chapel of the Congregational Church. This was arranged by the presidents of the five clubs, the C. L. S.
C., the Monday Club, the West End Literary Club, the Shakespeare Club and the Friday Reading Circle, and of the 120 members about 100 were pres-ent. Mrs. Blanche Martin read Justin McCarthy's "If I Were King." A social hour over the teacups closed a most successful and enjoyable afternoon.The members of the Auburndale Review Club are finding their study of Modern Drama of increasing interest as is shown by the large attendance at the meetings. On Tuesday morning
"The Great Divide," by William Vaughn Moody, was presented. Mrs. Draper gave some account of the life of the author and selections from the drama were read by Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Hutchinson and Miss Ordway, while the connecting links of the story were told by Mrs. Draper. After the reading those who had taken part opened the discussion by taking it from the author's standpoint, while the other members took it from the eyes of the world. This proved a very interesting feature of the morning.Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., entertained the Pierian Club on Wednesday afternoon.
Mrs. O. E. Nutter read a most interesting paper on the life of Galileo.
The next meeting will be with Mrs.
Halliday.On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club continued its study of the Commonwealth with a consideration of the manufacturing industries. The program was in charge of Mrs. F. A.
Pickernell. In introducing the subject she stated that in a consideration of the industrial development of the state the manufactures are found to be one of the most prominent factors, particularly the textile mills. Mrs. H. I. Harrington presented the cotton industry, Mrs. F. W. Dana the woolen industry, Mrs. W. F. Garcelon and Mrs. G. W.
Priest spoke of the leather and shoe industries. Each speaker claimed pre-eminence for their respective branches and each quoted figures ranging so far into the millions as to be almost incomprehensible.Of the cotton industry Mrs. Harrington stated that through this alone the country would be able to maintain its superiority among the nations. In fact 80 per cent of the world's supply comes from the United States. She touched upon the development of this industry and the factors which have contributed to it. Three inventions, which have revolutionized the cotton industry, followed one upon another in the latter part of the 18th century, the spinning jenny, the power loom and the cotton gin. The discovery of chlorin for the bleaching of cotton has also done much for the industry. Of the industry as applied to Massachusetts she stated that the value of the products amounted in 1907 to $193,000,000 and 62 per cent of it is manufactured in three cities, Fall River, New Bedford and Lowell. The manufacturers count one-eighth of a cent a yard as a fair profit, which shows the close margin upon which everything is figured. She touched upon the question of wages, of the housing of operatives and mill architecture.Mrs. Dana claimed the woolen industry as a most interesting one and in point of value as second only to cotton. She traced history of its development from the spinning and weaving in the colonial homes to the present day with 482 separate factories in New England. Lawrence stands at the head as a manufacturing centre of the state, and Boston as the greatest wool market in America and next to London the greatest in the world. The largest wool warehouse in the world is now being constructed in South Boston on the Summer street extension near the New York & New Haven docks.Mrs. Garcelon gave interesting facts concerning leather, that the first tanning of leather began in Peabody, also that Boston is the world's chief market for leather goods. She gave some account of the development of shoemaking from the old-time cobbler to the present day factory. Lynn, Beverly and Brockton were mentioned as the great shoe manufacturing cities of the state and of the world. She told also something of the methods of shoe machinery companies.Mrs. Priest gave a brief account of the process of tanning leather and of the discoveries which have made improvements possible. It is only within the last ten years that it has been possible to secure high grade and durable patent leather. The industry has been brought back to Massachusetts, upon the bulk of it is produced in this state, which has become the leader of the world in the manufacture of patent leather.

HOME ECONOMICS CONFERENCE

As the guests of the Newton Federation several hundred women from the clubs of the Massachusetts State Federation visited Newtonville and the new Technical High School on Wednesday of this week to attend the conference of the Department of Home Economies. All during the forenoon the visiting women came and were escorted about the building. Luncheon was served to over 260 by the members of the domestic science department of the school and the visitors were highly commendatory of its quality.The conference proper was held in the afternoon in the assembly hall and was of great practical interest. Miss Helen Louise Johnson, associate editor of Good Housekeeping, gave a lecture upon "House Planning," illustrated by lantern slides. Miss Flora M. Macdonald spoke upon "Economic and Artistic Furnishings." Both women are experts in their particular lines and were listened to with close interest and the members lingered to a late hour examining plans and furnishings exhibited and asking questions.In the absence of Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury, president of the Newton Federation, Mrs. F. E. Anderson, one of the vice-presidents, greeted the guests and placed the meeting in the hands of Mrs. Hattie M. Douglas, chairman of the Home Economics Department of the State Federation.At the close the guests were invited to the library where light refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.Miss Johnson said in part: There has always been a problem of livingand probably the present day problem differs in no way from that of B. C.
2000. For it is, when reduced to its lowest common denominator, how to retain health and strength and power under the conditions imposed upon us by modern progress.Presumably all of us live in homes of one kind or another. Certain it is that we live in homes which are primarily designed for shelter.The discomfort of living in large cities increases steadily and with that discomfort has come a restlessness, a seeking for something which ever eludes, until while habitations multiply, the home is said by some to be disappearing. Too many children emerge from dwelling houses to go to the schoolhouse and return again to a mere shelter. Too few are surrounded with those elements which are the factors of home.Two questions should be asked by a woman who plans a home. First, What influence do I wish this home to have upon those who are to dwell therein?
Second, How may I plan the house to best accomplish or to aid this end or purpose?The essential question in building, selecting or adjusting the house, is how may it be planned in order to consume the least amount of time, strength and money in its maintenance.
The question before us here is, what may we do to better the ready made houses thrust upon us in order to get the most out of life, to live better within the income upon which we have to exist.Miss Johnson then traced the evolution of the house from earliest times, showing changes made to suit environment and existing conditions. She showed pictures of many styles and pointed out how those suited to one locality are wholly out of place when taken away from their original surroundings.It is important, she said, that the woman should see to it that the house is planned and arranged to fit the requirements of the individuals who are to dwell in it. But in refitting neither the dignity nor the beauty of the living should be lost or omitted. The aim of shelter in any form is to preserve, conserve, and enhance life. For this the house should be built and planned, and because this is the aim the woman's part in it is very great. Life should not be wasted in the effort to make, get or keep a house, therefore the house should fit your needs, not your neighbor's idea of what they are.Every woman should know enough of house construction to be able to interpret the blue print when presented to her for criticism.Miss Johnson then showed pictures of a house which was planned to simplify the labor in it to the minimum.
The rooms were grouped around a small central hall with little or no distance from the kitchen to the front door, so that the one maid could inswer the bell or the telephone without interruption to her work. The kitchen was small and so arranged that everything could be reached with few steps. The dining room was easy of access from all directions without making it a passageway or unnecessarily prominent in the house.The success of the house will lie in its eventually expressing the lives of those who live in it. Its great function is to afford rest and recreation; but when there are children in the house, and generally speaking at some time there are, the home is a place which profoundly affects and molds the developing child. There can be no question that what growing boys and girls see in their homes, influence their entire lives. Of all the lessons you and I need to bring to each other, no other one is greater than that of beauty of life or living. Years ago Ruskin wrote:
"There is no wealth but life; life including all its powers of love and joy and admiration." And it is life in this fulness that our homes should yield us.Miss MacDonald, in speaking of furnishings and plans, called attention to some plans on exhibition of houses, which were artistic and yet could be built for from $2500 to $7000 to $8000.
She showed samples of artistic wall paper which was fairly high priced and others of moderate price whose designs were good. She referred to difficulties which many experience in building from having not fully understood the plans.
She also pointed out that it doesn't cost any more to get artistic homes and sometimes not as much, if a little thought and time is put into it. An artistic house adds to the value of the neighborhood. She called attention to the necessity of carefully thinking out the details while the house is in process of construction, for example, the color of the woodwork. Then in furnishing it is necessary to consider the points of compass. The warm reds and browns should be placed in the north rooms and the cooler blues and greens in the sunny south rooms. There should be harmony of design and color.
The wall paper should be of simple design and sink into a background for the pictures and the other furnishings. Good color and good designs, in forms not obtrusive, should be chosen. The two-tone panes usually give the best results. It is possible to get good designs and colors in inexpensive papers. She advised taking the paper into the room where it is to be used, for often the paper appears darker on the wall than when shown in the store. It was also pointed out that it is usually economical to buy good paper and to use good material for draperies for their colors hold better than the cheap ones.Miss MacDonald deplored the tendency to overload and overcrowd houses. She expressed the desire that the clubs might do something to educate public taste and suggested that something might be accomplished by holding exhibits of good designs and colors in the small towns. She, too, emphasized the desirability of putting good and artistic things in the children's rooms.

AWARDS IN THE NEWTON CIVIC FEDERATION'S PHOTO-GRAPH CONTEST.In the spring of the past year the Civic Federation of Newton offered the sum of $100 in prizes for photographs of notable features of the city.The contest closed in November and the announcement of the prize awards has just appeared.In the landscape class the winners and the titles of the prize-winning photographs are as follows:First Award—Ellis E. Moore, Newton, "The Charles River from the Concord Street Bridge."Second Award—Mrs. Alice L. Clark, Newton Highlands, "The River Bank at Auburndale."Third Award—C. O. Tucker, Newton, "Hammond Street, Chestnut Hill."The winners in the architectural class are:First Award—Mrs. Alice L. Clark, Newton Highlands, "Newton Cemetery Gates."Second Award—F. W. Sprague, West Newton, "Echo Bridge."Third Award—Partridge Studio, Newtonville, "Weston Bridge at Riverbank."The judges were Charles Copeland of Newton Centre, a well known artist; William H. Downes of Brookline, Art Editor of the Boston Transcript, and Paul P. Foster, Newton Highlands, Associate Art Editor of The Youth's Companion.The purpose of the Civic Federation in offering the prizes was to stimulate local pride and to arouse general interest in the beauty spots of the city. That this object was accomplished, in part at least, is attested by the interesting contributions which were received. The photographs included lake and river views, photographs of trees, streets, boulevards, bridges, parks, fountains, schools, noted houses and public memorials.In their report to the Civic Federation the judges called attention to certain particulars in which the contestants had failed to use their opportunities to the best advantage. In their opinion, no photographs of public buildings worthy of receiving an award were submitted, in spite of the fact that the city now possesses many new and handsome edifices. With one or two exceptions, also, no adequate views were received of the many historic spots in which the city abounds.As it seems probable that a second contest will be held in 1911 the judges make the suggestion that special emphasis be placed upon the desirability of securing as complete and excellent a collection as possible of views of public buildings, public squares and historic localities.The prize-winning photographs, together with practically all those which were received, are to be placed on exhibition, from time to time, throughout the city. It is hoped that the complete set may eventually be shown at each branch library. The first public exhibition of the photographs occurred at the Newton Club, Dec. 31, in connection with the reception to Mayor Hartfield.The Civic Federation will be pleased to loan the collection for similar occasions, for exhibition at men's club meetings, church fairs and other gatherings.By such publicity it is hoped not only to arouse public interest and pride in the city's natural and architectural beauties and assets, but also to obtain more and, if possible, even better contributions from the amateur photographers of Newton in the coming contest, the conditions of which will be shortly announced.According to a vigorously written article by Frances Hodges White, in Satanstoe Life for January, the mistress is to be blamed for much of the lack of co-operation in the kitchen. Mrs.
White relates the experiences of one maid as follows: "The first woman who employed her gave her an unheated, open attic room, with a corded bedstead in it. There was no mattress, only a feather bed, placed over the cord. You can easily imagine the result of lying an hour on such a bed.
It was her first place, and to give up meant failure; so she bore her sufferings for one month, then gave her notice. When questioned as to why she was leaving, and she told of her sleepless nights, the woman flew into a rage, and said, among other abusive things:
'Well, things have come to a great pass when they have got so we are expected to put springs on our servants' beds!' And this, actually, from a prominent social woman, in the suburbs of Boston."The healthy youngster will not desert the table so long as there is any dessert in sight.

There were thirteen tables at whist, and the souvenirs were awarded to Miss French, Miss Nickerson, Miss Jackson and Mr. Silman.

LOOK OUT FOR MEASLES

To the Editor of The Graphic.

Sir—
As Measles is beginning to appear in certain sections of the city and will probably follow its usual course of attacking all susceptible persons and seriously interfering with the school work, I wish to attempt to correct some common misapprehensions in regard to the disease.

Most people consider Measles a mild, unimportant disease, with practically no fatality; a disease that is a necessary evil of childhood, and the sooner a child has it and is done with it, the better. As a result they take very little care to protect their children against exposure, some even going so far as to expose children purposely.

Nothing can be further from the truth than these ideas. Measles is by no means an unimportant disease. In 1909, in the Registration area of the United States, which takes in over 55 per cent of the total population, the mortality from Measles was 10 per 100,000 of the living. This probably does not represent all the deaths due to Measles, as many deaths classed as broncho pneumonia are really due to a preceding Measles. The mortality from Scarlet Fever for the same time was 119 per 100,000. The case mortality of Measles is much higher, and the younger the patient, the greater his danger. The figures of the Chicago Board of Health show that of every five children under two years old attacked by Measles, one dies a case mortality of 20 per cent. In England the deaths from Measles during 40 years were 367,602, of which number only 31,728 were over five years of age. These figures certainly do not indicate a disease of trifling fatality.

Measles begins with symptoms of a common cold, which shows itself about seven days after exposure and three or four days before the appearance of the characteristic rash. It is capable of being transmitted during the catarrhal stage before the rash appears, and the contagiousness persists as long as any catarrhal symptoms remain. It is transmitted by direct contact and is not carried by so-called infected articles or by persons who have not the disease. Children who belong to a family where Measles exists should be excluded from school during the continuance of the disease, not because they can carry infection but because they may infect others before the rash appears.

During the past five years in Newton, 2035 cases of Measles were recorded by the Board of Health, a number which probably represents one third of the number of cases, which actually occurred. It can easily be seen what a serious interruption of the school work this means especially as each case is responsible for the exclusion from school of at least three other children. In conclusion, Measles is by no means a trivial disease, either in its fatality or the disturbance of the school work which it causes. It is not a necessary disease, any more than is Scarlet Fever. No one treats Scarlet Fever lightly or would think of exposing a child to Scarlet Fever knowingly and yet the actual number of deaths from Measles in Boston for six years, ending 1908 was 349, while only 324 died from Scarlet Fever. The record in Massachusetts for three years ending 1906 was, Measles 500 deaths and Scarlet Fever 326.

More care is needed in the protection of children from this disease. Boards of Health are powerless to accomplish much, for parents do not consider it necessary to call a physician, and cases are not reported. The State Statute requires householders to report in writing to the Board of Health each case of Measles occurring in the family. Where a physician is called in the Board of Health accepts his report and does not require the householder to act, but where no physician is called, it is the duty of the householder to report the case at once. Failure to do this makes him liable to a fine of not less than $50.

When Measles is prevalent, as it is at the present time, every child with a "cold" should be seen by a physician. If the case is one of Measles the child should be isolated until all catarrhal symptoms have ceased. No child who has symptoms of Measles should be allowed to mingle freely with other children, and under no circumstances should a child be exposed to Measles knowingly. Such an act is little short of criminal.

Very truly yours,
Francis Geo. Curtis M. D.
Chairman.

The Auburndale Village Improvement Society has just published a neat little booklet, containing some excellent views of the beautiful places in and about that village, and extolling the advantages of the place as a home. The entire book is highly creditable to the Society.

UNITARIAN CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Unitarian Club was held last evening in the parlors of Channing church. The informal reception was from 6.15 to 6.30, when dinner was served in the dining room. The special guest was Mr. Harry W. Kimball, secretary of the Massachusetts Savings Bank and Life Insurance League, who spoke on "Savings Bank Life Insurance and Old Age Pensions". Mr. Kimball said in part:

One of the fundamental principles of American democracy is equality of opportunity. We are not trying to make all men equal. God and Nature have not made them so and what God and Nature have not done we had better not try to do. Unfortunately under present conditions in many instances the people who need equality of opportunity most are the ones least likely to get it. The man of more than moderate means buys his way to the top at the actual time when he needs it and pays a much larger price for it. It was recently estimated that the price which the working people of Chicago pay for their fuel above the price which they would have had to pay had it been bought by the ton, was more than the entire amount of money given to all the benevolent and philanthropic organizations of the city. Until recently it has been true in regard to life insurance that the working man has had to pay far more for it than the man of ample means. Most working people have taken insurance from industrial companies and upon that kind of insurance the premiums are almost double that of the premiums upon annual and larger policies. The great expense of the weekly collections, the serious loss through lapse of policies and the fact that all industrial policies are non-participating have all worked to make this insurance very expensive.

Two or three years ago some level headed and big hearted men in Massachusetts determined that the working people should have equality of opportunity, and be privileged to obtain insurance at actual cost. The result was that a law was passed to establish Savings Bank Insurance.

A little over two years ago the People's Savings Bank of Brockton and the Whitman Savings Bank of Whitman opened Insurance Departments and furnished an opportunity for the people of Massachusetts to obtain their life insurance at actual cost. At the present time over $1,500,000 of insurance is in force in the Insurance Departments of these Savings Banks. The movement is therefore without question on a sound basis and in all probability rapid progress will be made from this time on.

This splendid result in the early years of operation is due largely to the effective cooperation of the business men and of trade unions of the Commonwealth. The Chamber of Commerce of Boston has had a Wage Earners Insurance Committee which has been active in developing agencies for Savings Bank Insurance among employers of labor. Within the year some 80 or 90 of the leading concerns in the eastern part of the State have become agencies for the insuring banks. This means that they have offered the opportunity for their employees to make applications for policies and to pay their premiums at the office of the Company where they are employed.

ENGAGEMENT TEA.

One of the prettiest teas of the season was given by Mrs. Plant, for Miss Plant and Mrs. Bancroft of Dorchester, at their beautiful home on Cotton St. Wednesday. The house was fragrant with many pink roses and potted plants. The engagement of her daughter, Amy Elizabeth to Edward T. Van Tassel Jr. of Newtonville, became known as the guests arrived and were presented by little Miss Van Tassel with a rose bud to which was tied a card bearing their names. Mrs. Van Tassel and Mrs. Grover poured and were assisted in the dining room by Miss Edna Jordan and Miss Clara Brown of Jamaica Plain, Miss Phyllis Underwood and Miss Helen Radcliffe served frappe in the hall. Guests were present from the Newtons, Brookline, Boston Lynn, Roxbury and Jamaica Plain.

Previous to the tea a luncheon was tendered Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Benbow, Mrs. Parsons, Miss Springer, Miss Stearns, Mrs. Horsfall and Miss Green by Mrs. Plant.

This bank extends its splendid facilities to all classes, believing that many moderate sized accounts are better than a few large ones, although it has ample facilities for either large or small accounts.

Paying all bills or purchases by check builds credit, prevents error, makes exact change, avoids losses, creates system, establishes confidence and is a receipt within itself. New checking accounts are cordially invited and courteous and painstaking attention is given to each account.

We would be glad to talk over banking relations with you.

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—The Maestro's Masterpiece, the new music drama by Edward Locke, author of "The Climax," which Mr. Arthur Hammerstein, the well known impresario, will present at the Boston Theatre beginning Jan. 23 for a limited engagement, marks a new epoch in musical affairs in America. The basic principle of The Maestro's Masterpiece is drama, but interwoven into the plot are many of the famous arias and ensembles of celebrated operas and original numbers of Gaetano Cappola, the well known director. These excerpts are introduced so naturally as to almost seem parts of the plot, and are interpreted by an aggregation of grand opera artists that have won renown on the lyric stage, and includes Mme. Maria Pampari, a celebrated Italian prima donna, who has never been heard in America; Leonid Samoloff, the famous tenor, Andrea Sarto and Count Enzo Bozanno, as members of the Manhattan Opera Company; Miss Ethel Houston, an American contralto, Miss Edith Somes, a soprano of Continental fame, Miss Helen Scholander, a sixteen year old celloist, Frederick W. Peters, Angelo Soracco, and the eminent Yiddish actor, Samuel S. Schneider. There will be an orchestra of 55 musicians from the Manhattan Opera House, New York.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—The next attraction at B. F. Keith's Theatre will be a real Wild West Show. This big company of thirty experts is under the direction of Billie Burke, and is called "Frontier Day." This will be a big feature of a bill composed entirely of headliners. It will include B. A. Rolfe's musical comedy, "The Leading Lady," with beautiful stage settings and a large chorus of pretty girls; and will also mark the first appearance in Boston of Mrs. Gardner Crane in her new comedy entitled "The Little Sunbeam." The stage setting of this act is decidedly novel, showing the interior of a sleeping car with the berths made down and the passengers just getting up at seven o'clock in the morning. Another laughing feature will be Ward and Curran in that vaudeville classic, "The Terrible Judge." Will H. Fox will introduce his pianologue, while Al and Fanny Steelman and the 3 Macagnos and other features yet to be announced will round out one of the strongest shows of the season.

A. N. COOK & CO.

Among the few Boston houses that have strictly maintained their reputation for high grade furs for over half a century is that of A. N. Cook & Company, N. C. Cook proprietor, 161 Tremont street Boston. It is an indisputable fact that fine furs for winter wear are the richest, most brilliant, comfortable and becoming apparel that has ever been obtainable, and while possessing these very desirable qualities the wearer has no fear of gaucheness or of being over dressed.

The great demand for the finest furs has caused a scarcity and the cost has been greatly increased, but, notwithstanding this unavoidable increase, the attractiveness of these goods is such that the demand continues even greater than ever.

To partially offset this advance in values purchasers may take advantage of the reduction sale which the firm instituted at the beginning of the new year (and which is now going on) preferring to do this and thus reduce their large stock of beautiful imported skins and keep their expert furriers busy until the end of the season.

It is impossible to find better values than this house offers in the fine line of coats in mink seal, pony, caracul, blended muskrat and squirrel, also scarfs and muffers in mink, lynx, ermine, marten, chinchilla, fisher, persian, beaver, etc., and in the above varied stock ladies will find it easy to make very desirable selections.

A specialty is made in gentlemen's fur coats in mink, muskrat, raccoon, etc., all at reduced prices.

A luxuriant selection of high grade goods is offered at this spacious and convenient store.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LAST NIGHT

Mr. William D. McCracken, C. S. B., gave a lecture on Christian Science, a Religion of Progress, at Players' Hall, West Newton last evening before a large and representative audience.

The speaker was introduced by Mayor Charles E. Hattfield.

Mr. McCracken said in part:

The message of Christian Science is simple and straightforward and responds to a universal need. It is not easily treated as an academic theme, nor is it, strictly speaking, a debatable question, because it provides the proof of its own correctness, day by day and hour by hour, and these proofs are final and convincing. Christian Science does more than preach or promise, it fulfills. While it arouses the noblest aspirations and expectations of mankind, it also justifies its teachings by definite results. Like the good Samaritan it comes to those who have fallen among thieves, whom false concepts have robbed of health and happiness. Whom material methods have passed by on the other side, and pours into their wounds the oil and wine of gladness and inspiration, takes them to the inn of shelter, and leaves with them the coin of priceless value which will insure their complete recovery and, in time, their complete salvation.

RELIGION OF PROGRESS

This is an age of practical achievement, and Christian Science is in thorough accord with the demands made for proofs. It lives and grows in favor with the needy of the earth by reason of its fruits. Christian Science makes no claim which it cannot substantiate, and so, in this day of advance in every department of human activity, it is demonstrating its right to be known as the religion of progress.

Not that God, who constitutes the basis, foundation, and Principle of all true religion, ever changes or progresses; not that the teachings of Jesus the Christ, the Founder of Christianity, need to be revised or the Bible rewritten. We read in the Scriptures that with God there is neither variableness nor shadow of turning; we also believe that the precepts and warnings of Jesus can never become antiquated, and that the Bible of our fathers, the great treasure-house of Christendom, when spiritually interpreted by Christian Science suffices for our daily needs. The thread of gold which gleams throughout the fabric of the Bible will shine forth forever to be apprehended by the receptive thought everywhere.

So it is not new where Christian Science contemplates, but one and the same Bible, explained in a spiritually progressive manner. It is not a new God which it proclaims, but the only true God, our Father which is in heaven. It makes no attempt at an improved Christ, for there is but one Christ, who is in the bosom of the Father, perfect, eternal and indestructible. Christian Science is progressive, and makes an advance in religion because it throws the strong light of Science upon the nature and attributes of Deity, upon the teachings and works of the Christ, and because it picks out from the Bible's make-up the essential imperishable import of its spiritual message.

Christian Science calls upon mankind for a frank and fearless revision of its own beliefs about the unchanging God, His man and His universe. This age, which is not afraid to fly in the face of the sun on tiny wings, is asked to display the necessary courage to pass in review the things which pertain to its own salvation from false gods. Why should not right and just views concerning God and His universe be capable of more precise statement? Why should it be thought a thing unreasonable with any one that God can become better understood by the average man than has been the case in the past? Why should not the understanding of how to grow in grace, how to deepen and broaden one's spiritual concepts, progress according to law. And why should not this knowledge concerning the fountainhead of all knowledge, the Giver of all good gifts, the absolute eternal Principle of all life, in whom we live, and move, and have our being,—why should not this knowledge constitute demonstrable Science?

Christian Scientists believe that it does: that Jesus pointed out the only true, final and real knowledge when he said, "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Evil has no origin in Spirit, no entity nor reality of God's making, and no eternity, but is always a false concept, assailing the mind of mortal man until such time as its lying nature is laid bare and its futile, transitory pretenses cease to frighten. Evil has no standing before God. Those who dwell "in the secret place of the most High" need not fear its empty threats, but, asserting their divine rights, may rise, in the words of the apostle Paul, "in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

Thus it is that the two statements of the Bible, namely, that God is Love, and God is Spirit, find their reconciliation in Science. The doubts which have ever assailed suffering humanity concerning the goodness of God are dissipated. Though physical sense, left to its own devices, rises in opposition to the most High, and tries to give the impression that God is cruel and willingly afflicts His defenceless children, Christian Science, elucidating the Scriptures, proves that evil is not of God's creation or permission. Good and good only proceeds from the Giver of every good gift, and all assertions to the contrary are due to ignorance or blindness of heart. John's statement that God is Love lives on forever side by side with Jesus' profound explanation that God is Spirit.

There is much comfort to struggling humanity in the conviction that God does not authorize the miseries of our earthly experience. This conviction is the first step toward the realization that these very miseries, lacking divine sanction, cannot have any real entity or existence, and must perforce have a fictitious origin and an unreal nature. God becomes fully reinstated in human affections at the same time that the so-called law of sin and death loses its supposed hold upon human affairs.

MATERIAL SENSE

But we will not deceive ourselves in regard to the opinion of the world, and of the natural man or mortal man concerning God, His Christ and His creation. Paul writes in his first epistle to the Corinthians: "For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God," and again, in the same epistle, "But the natural man, depends upon the testimony of the physical senses for his information. They are his witnesses. They are the feelers which he puts forth into the unknown, and according as they report so he acts or counteracts. Their testimony constitutes 'the wisdom of this world.' But Paul states in the above quoted texts that 'the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God' and that 'the things of the Spirit of God' are 'foolishness' unto the 'natural man.' Here then is an unresolvable situation. God rejects 'the wisdom of this world' upon which the natural man relies for the basis of his information, and the natural man rejects 'the things of the Spirit of God' because he cannot understand them. What shall the outcome be? One or the other must yield, and no Christian can doubt the issue for an instant. God's word must prevail. If the testimony of the physical senses conflicts with the proper discernment of 'the things of the Spirit of God,' then this physical testimony must be set aside as unworthy, or false. Spirit must have supreme over matter, over error, over life over death, Love over fear and hate. God must rule in His own universe, and God is Spirit, not matter.

It is well to know that immutable Truth does not depend upon what our physical senses report. No one who has looked into the peculiar habits of these senses, has noticed their strange perversity and readiness to mislead even the natural, material man, would wish to rely upon their testimony concerning the real man of God's creation. Science in order to be worthy of the name, must rest upon unimpeachable evidence. The knowledge of that which is unvarying and indestructible must itself be founded upon absolutely reliable information, but knowledge derived from the physical senses does not fulfill this requirement.

Mrs. Eddy, in her work "Rudimentary Divine Science," defines Christian Science "as the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony" (p. 1). As the student learns more about the nature of God through spiritual sense, the beneficent law of God grows in clearness and he is able to reject the discordant testimony of material sense. Then comes the demonstration or proof of harmony as normal and natural. He follows the leadings of Christian Science, not only learns the letter of its teachings, but also proves their correctness by saving the sinner, comforting the sorrowing, and healing the sick. Christian Science thus becomes a daily help for daily needs, the Comforter which leadeth into all truth, ever available at all times and under all circumstances.

THE DISCOVERER.

It will hardly be necessary here to insist upon the fact that religion should save the sinner. Whatever may be the doctrines of Christendom, all are agreed at least upon this point, that it is the natural work of religion, the business of Christianity, to save the sinner. But there is no such agreement regarding the sick. Jesus healed the sick, his disciples and apostles healed the sick, the early Christians for some three hundred years after, the crucifixion healed the sick by spiritual means; but during the intervening centuries the world has more and more relegated the healing of the sick to a special profession, using material means.

Since Mrs. Eddy's discovery of Christian Science the healing of Jesus' time has been reinstated, in accordance with his unmistakable injunction to his followers, and today hundreds of thousands of men, women and children in all portions of the globe rise to bless the good and brave woman to whom they owe health and happiness.

It is difficult to speak in moderate praise of one who is performing so stupendous a service for mankind. One can only rejoice that a great and growing volume of gratitude is finding its way to her from those who, through her teachings, have been delivered from pain and sorrow, from the fear of torment and the despair of godlessness. Special circumstances seem to have fitted Mrs. Eddy from her youth for the mission of mercy to which God called her. Born of New England parentage, in the state of New Hampshire, she grew up in an atmosphere of wholesome freedom and received an exceptionally comprehensive education, both secular and religious. As a woman progressive and advanced ideas, she investigated fearlessly the questions which came before the public. Especially was she interested in the healing art, and her quick recovery from the result of an accident, through the revelation of the spiritual meaning of the Bible, led to her discovery of Christian Science, in 1866.

In 1875 followed the publication of her epoch-making work, the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," now widely distributed among the civilized nations of the earth. This book is proving itself to be a potent factor in the elevation of the human race, and is literally making history by remodeling the lives and careers of multitudes. Mrs. Eddy has been the active leader of the Christian Science movement from its inception, and her writings continue to mold its growth and development along the lines of the greatest usefulness to mankind. The reward of the good and faithful servant is hers, and this is a source of gratification to every fair-minded person.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

A thanksgiving service was held at the Newton Universalist Church last Sunday evening, to commemorate the pledging of seven thousand eight hundred dollars to finance the church and to liquidate the mortgage. The spirit of joy and gratitude pervaded the large assembly, from Pastor to people. On the platform were seated Mayor Hatfield, Rev. Jay T. Stocking, Dr. Sykes, Dr. Conklin, and the Pastor of the church, Rev. Albert Hamman.

Mayor Charles E. Hatfield extended the greetings of the city of Newton, and spoke in terms of hearty praise of the work of the Pastor in accomplishing this very important achievement. He said in part:

"The city owes much to the church. It is not necessary in this day to state how much, for we all appreciate that debt. No matter what our religious belief, no matter where we belong, in this church or to some other denomination, still we rejoice with you; for there is one common ground that we all can stand upon, and that is the ground of benevolence and charity, the brotherhood of man which makes of us all brothers. And in this, the dominant feeling tonight, I rejoice with you as much as if it was my own church."

"It carries with it a greater opportunity for your church to do a far wider work. With this debt removed you will have an incentive to accomplish more. The day has gone by when church members have felt that it was a good thing to have a church debt, as something to work for; now, you have a broader field and a better opportunity to go out and practice that benevolence and charity for which you are so well known."

"I have seen your good Pastor in the church, I have seen him in the lodge room, and I have seen him on the street, and he has always that same pleasant smile for everyone, which makes you feel that it is a better world to live in, after you have greeted him. I have been especially close to him in the lodge, and I know how there he has led us to hate wrong and yet he has led us to love truth and to cherish brotherly affection to one another. He has stood for all that has been good in the community; and I know how we all feel in the lodge, toward him."

"And I have no better wish to leave you than to hope that he may be spared many years to you to carry on this work, and to be to you what he is to many of us who are not in the church, a friend and well-wisher, and a leader in all that is for the good of the community."

Rev. Charles Conklin, D. D., of Boston, State Superintendent of Universalist churches, spoke in behalf of the denomination, extended to both Pastor and people the hearty felicitations of all other Universalist churches throughout the state. He spoke of the great difficulties attending the raising of so large a sum of money, at a time when so many other worthy charities were crying for subscriptions. Continuing, he said:

"It means not simply to stand and rejoice, but to get to work with zeal and with better equipment, and with larger vision into, and purpose to improve, the affairs of life. We go to church to get inspiration for the real work of lifting up the world to the highest planes of thought and ideals. That is the value of the church, to make us better men and women in the practical things of this world."

"My friend, here, his Honor the Mayor, the leading men of this city of Newton will certainly put himself in accord with me when I say that you may have the very finest laws, and you may have the best Executive, but before you can have a high-toned municipality, you must have a high-toned public spirit. And the Christian church is working to make the home sweet and pure, is working to keep the young from temptation, from the weaknesses of life, and to keep everyone facing the great ideal in Jesus Christ, whom to know is salvation."

Rev. Richard E. Sykes, D. D., of Malden, said:

"It is frequently easier to do a big thing than it is to do a little thing. So, within a few months, this autumn, you have accomplished this really great task. Therefore, we bring to you not only our sympathy, but our joy, our congratulations. The obstacle is out of the way. Now you have a clear course, an open field to do the real good in life for which the church is built."

"We rejoice, we are sympathetic with you, over the struggle, but we are glad it has brought out the reserves. We are glad now that the victory has been won, and that you have this house, this beautiful temple, erected by the love of this congregation, and clear of all debt, to be dedicated anew to Him as the altar where your hopes shall be pledged, your faith shall be strengthened, and the love of God proclaimed as the most abiding in the earth."

The committee which had the direction of the financial campaign, consisted of Messrs Charles D. Cabot, Louis E. G. Green, Winthrop Marvin, F. E. Proctor, Franklin Banchoff, William Zoller Stuart Bosson and J. P. Westcott.

For the creation, and the reception of the plan, and for its resultant success, great credit is due to the tireless zeal, and to the persistent, indefatigable labors of Mr. William Zoller and Mr. Franklin Banchoff.

Mrs. Gilbert of Erie avenue and under the direction of Mrs. Studley read the third act.

At the home of Mrs. Salmon on Jan.
16, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands continued its study of Robert Louis Stevenson. Selections were read from his poems and essays and several of his poems which have been set to music were charmingly rendered by Mrs. Edith C. Cooper with Miss Pope accompanying. Personal reminiscences of Stevenson's home land, Scotland, were given by Miss Conant a guest of the afternoon. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Brown of 25 Fisher avenue.

On Monday afternoon the C. L. S. C. met with Miss Thompson. Mrs. George Q. Hill presided over the program, which consisted of a review of Lowell's literary essays, "Among my Books." The second guest night of the Wal-ban Woman's Club was held on Monday evening, Jan. 16th, in Waban School Hall. Prof. Charles Zuehlke spoke upon "Representative Government versus Democracy," presenting his subject in a forceful manner that greatly interested both the members and their gentleman guests.

Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden gave a paper before the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon upon "William Morris, His Art and His Time." The paper which was illustrated by stereop-tion, treated of this interesting man as artist, craftsman, poet and socialist.
Samples of wall paper and draperies of the Morris designs were exhibited. Mrs.
G. R. Pulsifer, rendered a group of songs with Mrs. A. P. Carter at the piano. During the social hour tea was served by the Executive committee.

The West Newton Woman's Educational Club held its regular meeting on Friday January 13. The exercises were in charge of Mrs. George D. Byfield and included an instrumental selection by Miss Helen Post, an address on the hospital work by Miss Riddle, Matron of Newton Cottage Hospital, and a brief outline of the work accomplished during the last year by the school nurse, Miss Gertrude Melick. A demonstration on cooking for the sick by Miss Maria Willets Howard of Simmons College, closed a most interesting program.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The Social Science Club celebrated its Silver Anniversary at the Hunne-well Club on Wednesday, Jan. 18. An informal social hour preceded the luncheon during which three of the original members of the club, Mrs. Walcott Calkins, Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke, and Mrs.
L. R. Stone, received the guests. Shortly after one-thirty the company proceeded to the dining room which was gay with the red and green Christmas decorations. The tables themselves were most attractive with potted white primroses, which with their green foliage carried out the club colors. At each plate was a white carnation bouton-niere to which was attached with green ribbon the place card with the club monogram in silver. At a large round table in the centre of the room were seated the vice-presidents, the four original members and others who were to have part in the program afterwards. The rest of the members were seated at long tables filling the dining room and extending into the card room.
At the close of the luncheon Mrs. H.
H. Powers acted as toastmistress. First upon the program was a song composed by Miss Josephine Sherwood, "Dinah Doll's" and sung by a quartet of Newton ladies under the direction of Mrs.
F. A. Wetherbee. The first toast proposed was "Our Silver Anniversary," responded to by Mrs. J. W. Barber, a former president of the club. In this she reminded the club that we must not consider the anniversary as a goal but merely a fresh beginning for better things.

Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke told of "The First Days" of the club and in humor-ously alluding to certain phases of the work as a member, who had been voted down more times than any other.
The club started, she said, with a membership of twelve, but was soon enlarged to twenty-five and later to fifty at which number it remained so long as the meetings were held in private houses, but when they came to the Hunne-well Club the limit was extended to one hundred. She spoke of the club's work for the vacation school as pioneer work of its kind and alluded to her own activity in the work for the protection of the birds. A tender tribute was given to the members who have gone.

A violin solo by Miss Ruth Ivy accompanied by Miss Gladys Barber, both club daughters, came next and was much enjoyed.
Miss Ethel Gilman, whose mother was formerly a member, read an original poem entitled "The Ballad of the Second Generation." Dr. Mary W. Calkins, who enjoys the distinction of having been an original member and is at the same time a club daughter, responded to the toast, "Twenty-Five Years of Social Science." Dr. Calkins spoke most appreciatively of the wisdom of the founders of the club in the sort of work which they laid out and said that she thought the great success of the club is accounted for in large measure from the fact that it had adhered to some related subject of study throughout its whole existence. Then the human side of the subject and its connection with present day affairs have made it vital.

Then followed a piano solo by Miss Barber.
Mrs. E. W. Whittey, who was for a long time the recording secretary, presented a graceful poem in which she reviewed the work of the club as found upon the records.

"Is the Social Science Club Perfect?
A Peep into the Future!" was responded to by Mrs. F. H. Tucker, also a former president. In this Mrs. Tucker paraded the club before the mirror to show up more truthfully how time had dealt with it, pointing out both humorously and seriously some of the things which have made the club what it really is.

After a few gracious words from the toastmistress the program closed with another song by the quartet. It was with a feeling of satisfaction that the company broke up. The committee of arrangements of which Mrs. W. R.
Dewey was chairman, deserve great credit at the successful manner in which everything was carried out.

On Wednesday January 18, the West Newton Woman's Educational Club, under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Beardsley entertained at 525 Winchester street Newton Highlands the inmates of The City Home.

While the work of this club is educational it is the wish of the president Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell, to include, whenever possible, a measure of philanthropy.

The Newton veteran firemen's as-

Mague hall, the farce "Ye Olde Towne

Frank E. Hiland, and was under the direction of James R. Condrin. The many references to citizens kept the audience in peals of laughter. The cast included William M. Kent as town clerk, Michael J. O'Connell, moderator and chief of the fire department, Joseph J. Curran and Justin A. McCarthy lawyers, John L. Foley, a colored bro-a year ago.

BRAE BURN CARNIVAL

The most successful ice carnival of the season was held Wednesday evening in charge of the Pond Committee, Harry L. Burrage, F. B. Witherbee and Edward F. Woods.

The skating pond was illuminated by hundreds of electric lights hidden in Japanese lanterns of many colors. At the west end of the pond a brass band played frequently and near the skating house in a little shed a man with a hurdy-gurdy ground out popular melodies while the band was resting. There was also an orchestra in the clubhouse.

The fence about the hockey rink was lined five deep with spectators of the hockey game between the Brae-Burn second team and the Somerville Hockey Club seven. The home team won easily 12 to 1.

The annual meeting of the Nonantum Day Nursery Association will be held in the New Church parlors, Highland avenue, Newtonville, Tuesday, January 24, at 2.30 P. M. Following brief reports and the election of officers, Mrs. Robert A. Woods of South End House, Boston, will speak.

Tea will be served. All who are interested in the work of Stearns Neighborhood House, Newton, or of South End House, Boston, are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Eliot Church was well filled with lovers of good music last evening when Mr. Henry T. Wade gave the second in the series of organ recitals under the auspices of the New England Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. His artistic program covered a wide range and was taken from the complement of the organ. Miss Josephine Knig of the Eliot quartet was the soprano soloist and gave a fine rendering of "O Had I Jubal's Lyre," from Handel's "Joshua" and "Elsa's Dream" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." The eleventh public recital will be given in Eliot church, Thursday evening, February 16 by Mr. John Hermann Loud, assisted by Mr. I. Garfield Stone, tenor of the Eliot church quartet.

STREET RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Two cars of the Boston & Worcester street railway company collided with each other Sunday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock on Boylston street, near Jackson street Newton Centre. Two women who refused to give their names were slightly injured and the other passengers were badly frightened when the accident occurred.

The car is a sharp curve where the collision occurred and a slight grade. As the first car, No. 127, was rounding the curve the rear trucks left the rails, but the car ran along quite a distance before it was brought to a stop.

As the trolley came off when the car left the rails all the lights in the car went out, and only a red light on the rear end of the car was visible. The motorman of the second car says he did not see the light when his car rounded the curve.

The second car, No. 111, was bound for Boston and came from Natick. It struck the first car on the left side with terrific force, and the 20-odd passengers in the second car were hurled from their seats. A number of the passengers on the first car had left the car to see if they could be of assistance. Those who remained inside were more or less shaken up by the impact, although, it is said, no one was seriously hurt.

The Natick car fell over on the outward-bound tracks and the other car was forced into the street. Both tracks were completely blocked when the wrecking crew arrived.

The forward trucks of the rear car were ripped from the body of the car and the steps were smashed. The left side of the first car was damaged and four windows were broken. Traffic was tied up for hours, and at midnight the wreckage had not been cleared from the inward-bound tracks.

The two women who were slightly injured were taken to the Chestnut Hill waiting room and treated by a physician and taken to their homes in carriages.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

Now that the senatorial election is over the General Court will probably settle down to actual legislative business. The Committee bulletin of Monday showed assignments for but 15 hearings, although the volume of new business, on which the time limit closes last Saturday, breaks all records. There is this much to be said, however, that this enormous amount of business cannot possibly be printed fast enough to make it possible for assignments to be made at once on every bill. For instance, on Wednesday, only three of the several bills introduced on behalf of this city had been printed.

In looking over the various bills presented for legislative approval, one cannot but be impressed with the fact that it takes all kinds of people to make a world. Bills are here prohibiting the sale of packages of cigarettes containing pictures, requiring the licensing of chefs and cooks for hotels, and other places although nothing of the sort is mentioned for cooks for private families, to establish state theatres and to require all theatrical companies to pay all receipts to the state treasury in excess of 10 percent over all expenses, for their support to establish municipal lodging houses with dining and reading rooms on request of any incorporated charitable or labor organization, to regulate and license barbers and to authorize amateur baseball on Sunday afternoons. These are just a few of the bills which are seriously presented for legislative consideration. Among the bills presented I also noticed one on the petition of Mrs. Katherine Lentz Stevenson of Newton for a constitutional amendment for prohibition, one from Mr. Fred A. Hubbard of Newton that the state board of pharmacy have the sole right to grant druggists' licenses one to give municipal suffrage to women who own property and one of William F. Garcelon for enrollment of voters where nominations are made by direct vote. There is also a bill for a Federation of Metropolitan Boston, with an advisory council of the mayors and selectmen of all the cities and towns in the metropolitan park and water districts, and a bill for a similar council composed of 250 members to control most every form of municipal action in the district. There are all kinds and conditions of direct nomination bills, which include all officers from the governor to the most remote county official, and there are eight separate propositions on the matter of direct nomination or election of United States senators.

One excellent feature is manifest this year in that the various boards and commissions submit prepared bills to cover their various recommendations. In former years, these recommendations were simply made in the reports, and the new method will save much time of the committees.

The Commission on Compensation for Industrial Accidents, of which Mr. James A. Lowell of Chestnut Hill is chairman, submit a partial report and ask for further time.

Taxpayers will have a little relief this year on our county tax, unless something unexpected appears, as the Middlesex County Commissioners ask for but $606,311.25—which is $52,000 less than last year.

All three of our representatives and Senator Muligan of this district cast their votes for the re-election of Senator Lodge, who was elected Wednesday noon by the joint convention, although he failed to have a majority of the House the previous day. The re-election of the Senator however, has left a sore spot in the Commonwealth which it will take many months for the Republican party to repair. It is freely predicted that this is the last election in this Commonwealth of a United States Senator without some form of public opinion, either by a preference or a mandatory primary election, and with the possibility of an amendment to the United States constitution to that same end, it is probable that this is also the last election for Senator Lodge.

Governor Foss has been unusually quiet the past week and it is possible that he is taking lessons in some of his new duties.

Mr. Guild visited the Passion Play last summer and took the pictures which were used in the lecture.

—The Neighborhood Circle met at the house of Mrs. Frederic A. Wetherbee, Monday. The guests were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Maud Wood Park who spoke in her usual charming manner on England's Present Woman Problem. A short discussion followed upon the principles of Woman Suffrage which was of timely interest.

—The annual meeting of Eliot church was held Friday evening in the chapel. The reports from the various organizations were given and it was stated that the net increase of membership was 30, making a total membership of 696. The benevolence for the past year has been about $25,000. A social hour and refreshments followed the business session.

—The annual meeting of the Immanuel Baptist church was held Friday evening in the vestry. A supper was served by the Ladies Benevolent Society and was followed by a song by the Immanuel Male Quartet. The annual reports from the various departments were read followed by a review of the year by the pastor and an address by Rev. Carey W. Chamberlin of Beverly. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of four new members on the advisory committee: Mrs. George C. Travis, Mrs. J. William Blaisdell, Mrs. H. G. Reid and Miss Florence Butterfield.

—The annual meeting of the corporation of Grace Church parish was held Monday evening in the parish house. The annual reports were read and the following officers elected: Wardens, J. R. W. NEW CHURCH IN VIEW

Among the Newton enterprises worthy of note is the movement in the Second Church (Congregational) West Newton towards a new church building. The first step was taken in 1909 when the sum of $37,500 was raised upon Easter Sunday, practically the entire amount being paid in during the year. At Easter 1910 this sum was increased by further contributions, so that with the income from the fund added, it is now worth $54,658.94, all of which, with the exception of less than $700, is in hand in cash and securities. It is now proposed at Easter 1911 to raise $40,000 more in cash and pledges, payable in one, two and three years, that is, in 1911, 1912 and 1913. Of this sum $20,000 has already been pledged by four men, contingent upon $20,000 more being raised before May 1st, 1911, and there is little doubt that this can be done.

As it is intended to take plenty of time in settling the questions of site and plans, this, with the earnings, will give a fund of fully $100,000 with which to begin the work of building.

Provided the sum of $40,000 is raised as above stated, a non-resident whose parents formerly attended this church offers to give a memorial organ, to be in keeping with the new church, at a cost not to exceed $10,000.

Another non-resident offers an appropriate window as a memorial for his parents.

As yet no site has been selected, as there is no immediate necessity for leaving the present building. Action will be taken before long in this direction.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

Mr. William R. Dupee, for many years a resident of Chestnut Hill, died last Friday at his present home on Bay State road, Boston, after an illness of two years. Mr. Dupee was born in 1841 and was a prominent wool merchant in Boston until his retirement in 1905. He is survived by a son, Mr. William A. Dupee, and two daughters, Elizabeth B. the wife of Mr. Endicott P. Saltmash, of Chestnut Hill and Jeanne U. the wife of Mr. George D. Burrage, of Brookline. While a resident of Chestnut Hill, Mr. Dupee owned the property recently occupied by Mrs. Eddy.

THEATRES

B. F. Keith's Theatre—Christy Mathewson, the famous pitcher of the New York "Giants", is an actor as well as a ball player. With "Chief" Myers, the catcher of the "Giants", and Miss May Tully, the prominent comedienne, he appears in a sketch that aside from the prominence of the players would attract immediate attention. The action takes place outside of the Polo Grounds, the dialogue is bright and the comedy situations are most amusing. It will be surrounded by an exceptionally good show with lots of amusing features. One will be the Charles Ahearn troupe of comedians, who create one roar of laughter with their bicycle stunts. Jesse Lasky's big new production, "The Pianophoni Minstrels", are also on the bill, and other features will be Max Hart's Dancers; Lucas and Fields; Milo, Diaz's Trained Monkeys; The Kemps; and the Woods and Woods Trio.

Boston Theatre—Not in a decade has such a furor been created as that which greeted "The Maestro's Masterpiece" upon its initial production. Combining the best elements of grand opera and drama its triumph was not unexpected and that it is a novelty of the first water there can be no doubt as was attested by the criticisms which appeared in the Boston papers. The cast is composed of actors and actresses who have won fame upon the grand opera stage and who comprise a vocal ensemble which has never before been equaled on the American stage in drama. It would be superfluous to single out any individual member for exceptional praise as each character is impersonated so thoroughly and artistically that the dramatic equilibrium is not in the least unbalanced. The musical features which consist of excerpts from the most famous operas of Verdi, Ponchielli, Offenbach, Donizetti, Massenet, Abt and Tschakowsky are unique and add embellishments to the strong plot of the play. The orchestra of 55 which was brought from the celebrated Manhattan Opera House in New York is likewise an engaging feature of the performance.

The end of an argument is better than either side of it.

WORK AMONG ITALIANS.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. has undertaken evangelistic and temperance work among the Italians in and near West Newton. Mrs. Maria Nepunicino of Boston, a woman who has done missionary work among her own people in South America and Italy, has been engaged to come to West Newton one afternoon a week to do this work among the Italians, an American woman, some member of the union, accompanying her in the visitation. Mrs. Nepunicino has joined the West Newton W. C. T. U., and is well fitted to do this missionary work. Little, if any religious work is being done among the Italians of Newton, and the W. C. T. U. felt that the time had come when this work must be done. Mrs. Nepunicino has had a cordial welcome in the homes she has visited, and the men and women have listened eagerly to her message. Some temperance literature in Italian is left in each home visited. It takes money to do this work, and it is earnestly hoped that some of the citizens of Newton will rally to the support of this work which the women have started. The work could be broadened if the means were provided. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Jennie Chandler, treasurer, 385 Webster street, Auburndale, or to Mrs. W. H. Rand, president, 247 Austin street, West Newton.

Russell, 26 to 11 while on the other rink, the team skipped by Mr. Gould was defeated by exactly the same score by Mr. Phelps team. Both matches went 17 ends.

IMPORTANT JEWELRY SALE.

All who are contemplating the purchase of anything in the jewelry line should have in mind the announcement of C. A. W. Crosby & Son the well known firm at 474 Washington street, viz the disposal of their great and carefully selected stock of diamonds, watches, silverware and jewelry at 20 per cent to 50 per cent reduction in price. All goods must be closed out as the building is to be torn down. It is unnecessary to enlarge on the merits of this reliable house so well it is known to everyone in greater Boston and vicinity, but for the benefit of strangers we would say that they can make no mistake in attending at this rare and important event.

STRUCK BY CAR.

While crossing Washington street, near Church street Hazel McDonald, aged 7 years, daughter of William McDonald of 299 Centre street, was knocked down by a trolley car. She was taken to the Newton Hospital. Her right hand may have to be amputated.

TO IMPROVE NEWTON

In response to invitations sent out by Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, president of the Hunnewell Club, a meeting was held on Friday evening in the Stanley hall to consider the advisability of forming an improvement association, for Newton, or that part of the city known as Newton Corner. Mr. Fisher presided and Alderman Calkins acted as secretary. It was the opinion of those present that such an association was needed and tentative by-laws were adopted and these officers elected: President, Oliver M. Fisher, and an executive committee composed of Hon. H. E. Bothfield, Frank A. Day, W. H. Emerson, J. F. Flanagan, Fred W. Stone, Fred H. Tucker and Hon. A. R. Weed. Another meeting will be held in the near future to complete the organization.

NEWTON BOAT CLUB.

The bowling team rolled an interesting match recently at Winchester with the Calumet Club, winning, two out of three at Boston pins and with totals of 1553 to 1478. Jones did some great rolling with a single of 163 and a total of 393. The latter is the best made in a team match for a long time but as it was not made in a league game it will not stand as a record.

CITY HALL

The Civic Club of Newton will hold its annual meeting at the Newton club next Wednesday evening in charge of President B. S. Palmer. The subject of "Greater Boston" will be considered with Hon. Geo. Hutchinson and Mr. Geo. S. Smith as the principal speakers. Mayor Hatfield is spending the week end in the Franconia Notch, White Mountains.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald says: "The name of 'Mr. Weeks' appears in the Congressional Record about 500 times during the last four days. That is because the popular Massachusetts congressman has been in charge of the postoffice appropriation bill which has become one of the most difficult of appropriation bills to get through the House without stirring up a lot of ruction."

Chairman Weeks has been on his feet most of the time answering a volley of questions from every quarter. As a manager of an appropriation bill he has gained the rank of field marshal, and in that role is probably not surpassed by any man at the Capitol. Unless it be Senator Hale of Maine. He, first of all, knows his bill perfectly in every line and letter and item. That is very essential, for then a "manager" can answer all the fool questions that 390 other congressmen can propound. Then he has infinite patience. He does not get angry when brain and flesh weary of interrogatories. Furthermore, he has tact in seizing the propitious moment for driving ahead against opposition and forcing his measure to a final vote."

NONANTUM DAY NURSERY.

The annual meeting of the Nonantum Day Nursery Association was held Tuesday in the parlors of the New Church. Mrs. Robert A. Woods of the South End House, Boston, gave an account of social settlement work there. Tea was served. The meeting was in charge of the retiring president, Mrs. James P. Tolman. These officers were elected: President, Miss Grace Weston, first vice-president, Mrs. Charles W. Davidson; second vice-president, Mrs. E. H. Keyes; secretary, Mrs. George H. Wilkins; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Sherman; assistant treasurer, Mrs. H. W. Thayer.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

The officers of General Hull Lodge No. 123, A. O. U. W. for 1911, who will be installed by District Deputy Wilfred A. Clark and suite this evening at Denison Hall, Newtonville, are as follows—PMW, F. G. L. Henderson; MW, Dr. C. Arthur Boutelle; F. William H. Bliss; O. Arthur W. Hall; Recorder, John L. Sibley; treasurer, Edwin H. Cram; financier, William E. Brown; G. John Dorney; IW, Chester A. Parkhurst; OW, Albert E. Billings; trustee, Joseph L. Atwood.

GIVEN SILVER SERVICE

Mr. Christopher M. Goddard of Newton Centre, who completed 20 years service as secretary of the New England Insurance Exchange on January 17th, was presented with a beautiful silver service at the recent meeting of the exchange. The presentation was made by Mr. Gayle T. Forbush, and Mr. Goddard made a suitable response. The Standard, the weekly insurance paper of Boston, has a supplement to its issue of Jan. 21 containing a fine likeness of Mr. Goddard, and says among other kind words, "In his efforts to promote the best interest of the Exchange Mr. Goddard has been indefatigable. He possesses a comprehensive knowledge of the scope, policy, methods and details of the work of this prominent organization, is a man of strong mentality and sound judgment and has shown himself eminently well qualified for the important position he occupies."

OBITUARY.

Dr. Clara Whitman Reed, daughter of Joel and Clarissa Porter, was born in Alstead, New Hampshire. Her parents moved to South Acworth when she was about thirteen years old. At the age of seventeen years, she was married to William F. Whitman, who was killed in the War of the Rebellion. In the year 1869 she married George F. Reed, who died in 1874. She then took up the study of medicine and graduated from Boston University School of Medicine in 1878. She commenced practicing in Bellows Falls, Vermont, staying there nine years, when she removed to Newton, Mass., where she remained in active practice until one year ago, when on account of ill health she returned to her old home, where she passed away January 18, after a year of intense suffering.

Dr. Reed is survived by one daughter, Viola M. Whitman.

Castle Square Theatre—The play to follow "Jack and the Beanstalk" at the Castle Square Theatre next week will show by contrast the resources of John Craig and his players. "Hamlet" is too well known to require much heralding. A little over a year ago, Mr. Craig produced it with great success, and its revival on Monday promises to have no less popularity. Mr. Craig's interpretation of Hamlet has received high praise, and no less commendation has been bestowed on Mary Young's Ophelia. These two players will reappear in these roles at the Castle Square next week, and the other important characters will bring forward the leading players of the stock company. In every detail the long cast will do full justice to the play, and the extra characters will be carefully selected.

Collar as a Verb.
The verb "collar" has long been used transitively, meaning to "seize or take hold of a person by the collar; more loosely, to capture." The verb was thus employed early in the seventeenth century. Steele in the Guardian, No. 81, wrote, "If you advised him not to collar any man." Other instances are Gentlemen's Magazine, 1702, "His lordship collared the footman who threw it," and Marryat's sentence in "Peter Simple," "He was collared by two French soldiers."

A Tenant For Life.
"Have you boarded long at this house?" inquired the new boarder of the sour, dejected man sitting next to him.
"About ten years."
"I don't see how you can stand it. Why haven't you left long ago?"
"No other place to go," said the other dismally. "The landlady's my wife."

The Family Scrap Book.
Mrs. Sauer's (to Willy as minister calls to see Mr. Sauer)—Willy, is your father in? Willy—Yes; he's upstairs looking over your scrap book. Mrs. Sauer (puzzled)—You mean my family account book? Willy—Well, it's all the same. He and you always have a scrap every time he goes over it.

"Portrait of a Gentleman."
The Professor—Can you define a gentleman, Miss Cutting? The Suffragette (dilly)—Certainly. A gentleman was contemporaneous with the old masters, who often painted his portrait.—Exchange.

Suited His Temperament.
"George is a very grocerly sort of man, isn't he?"
"Yes. Won't even ride in anything but a sulky."—Baltimore American.

Seek knowledge as if thou wert to be here forever.—Hendler

The Getaway Fellows.
"What is this wanderlust you read of so often as compelling people to leave home?"
"I don't know," replied Mr. Cumrox; "but, judging from my observation of people who leave it, wanderlust is German for 'evildoers.'"—Washington Star.

His Literary Treasures.
"Jones took me to his rooms to see a collection of rare and curious manuscripts."
"What were they?"
"Receipted tailors' bills."—Cleveland Leader.

Family Jars.
The beginning of many family jars comes with the wife trying to jar a little money loose from the husband.—Atlanta Constitution.

Elect that man to office who has the courage to be decent and honest when nobody is looking.
A lie travels by aeroplane, while truth trudges along with lagging step, and yet it finally arrives.

To possess information is an important matter. It is desirable even for a fence to be well posted.
If you will carefully count your expenses you will seldom have occasion to ask the bank to discount your note.
The boaster's story of his life is too much like the historical novel,—one part truth to three parts fiction.

MRS. FYFFE DEAD

After an illness extending over a month, Mrs. Clifford Neff (Moody) Fyffe, the widow of Rear Admiral Joseph Fyffe, U. S. N., died Thursday at her home, 73 Perkins street, West Newton. Death was due to arterial trouble. She was seventy years old and was born in Montgomery, Ohio, the daughter of Rev. Granville Moody, a well known Methodist clergyman. In 1865 she was married to Rear Admiral Fyffe, at that time a naval commander. Her husband served in the Army during the Mexican War and afterwards was graduated from Annapolis. In 1894 he was made commandant of the Charlestown Navy Yard and was retired from active service one year later. He died in 1896.

For twenty-two years Mrs. Fyffe had made her home in the house in which she died. She attended the West Newton Unitarian Church and was interested in the work of the Daughters American Revolution, in which she was a member of Lucy Jackson Chapter of Newton. She had written and read a number of historical papers, among them an essay on the lives of John and Charles Wesley. Mrs. Fyffe is survived by a son, Joseph Fyffe, who is paymaster of the U. S. S. North Carolina, and two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Fyffe of West Newton, and Mrs. G. G. Mitchell, who at present is in Europe.

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at her late home on Perkins street, and were attended by many friends. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes was in charge. The body was taken to Urbana, Ohio, where another service was held on Tuesday in the Fyffe home.

Hollis Street Theatre—Mrs. Fiske, America's foremost dramatic artist, will be seen in the greatest role of her career, "Becky Sharp" at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, during the week of Jan. 30, only, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

"Becky Sharp," in which Mrs. Fiske's realization of the "immortal Becky" stands as one of the most signal contributions that the American stage has known, is a dramatization of Thackeray's famous novel, "Vanity Fair," made by Langdon Mitchell.

With its various groups of strongly differentiated characters and its multiplicity of incidents, "Vanity Fair" has always been held to be replete with dramatic material. It has been said that there are a dozen plays in the novel. Many have been made, but none other than this, by Langdon Mitchell, ever scored any particular success. No skillful dramatist should ever attempt to make a play of the book without making Becky the central figure, since the interest centers and radiates with her as the principal object of the story. "Becky Sharp" is the most popular play in Mrs. Fiske's comprehensive repertoire, and her characterization of Langdon Mitchell's heroine as drawn from Thackeray's brilliant figure, stands as one of the creations that will be remembered as long as the history of dramatic art in America endures.

The basket ball team defeated Allen school 44 to 15 last Friday in the Y M C A gym. The hockey squad won the opening game in the Preparatory and Triangular ice hockey leagues at the Harvard stadium rink, Cambridge, Tuesday afternoon with Cambridge Latin.

Both sevens are members of the two leagues mentioned and the victory counts as a double-header for Newton. The game was one of the best of the season in school circles.

When the first period ended Newton lead 4 to 1. Capt. Charles Foote scored two goals in the opener on two clever shots from difficult angles. Baldwin and Spalding each registered one for Newton in the same period, while Baker made Latin school's only point in that session.

The play became much closer in the second period, marked by fine passing, blocking and skating. Wright tallied a point for Cambridge Latin early in the play. Shortly after that Spaulding made Newton's last point.

In the last ten minutes of play Rice, Davis and Edgerton were rolled off by Edward Graustein of Harvard for two minutes. When they resumed playing Wright made his second goal of the game.

The mayor's recent suggestion that the school houses be made to serve two classes instead of one, when its capacity for the latter has been reached, is one worthy of considerable thought. For some time suggestions have been brought forth for the use of the school plant outside of school hours, but usually these ideas have run towards civic improvement rather than educational. Mr. Barbour's plan for a Massachusetts College was largely based on using high school buildings for its lectures, and struck many as most excellent on that account. The mayor will probably have hard work to reconcile parents to either the early hour in the morning or the late hour in the afternoon, which his plan must entail, but it is a step in the right direction without doubt.

Thru the courtesy of the Civic Federation of Newton and the Youth's Companion, I am able to reproduce three of the prize photographs of the recent contest of the Federation. It is impossible in a newspaper cut to give the beauty of a photograph, but the cuts will enable our readers to obtain some ideas of the winning pictures.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

A new publication devoted to the interest of club women has just come into the Club Editor's hands. The American Club Woman. It is published New York. The editor is Eva MacDonald Valesh with a long list of associate editors, who are women actively connected with women's organizations of various sorts. Number one, which is dated January, contains several articles of interest, one relating to the work among the Southern Mountaineers and another entitled "Women will leave Industry," by Cornelia S. Robinson. There is a department devoted to New York Club affairs and items of general club news from over the country. This department the editors are evidently anxious to push. The magazine does not aim to be the official organ of any organization, but rather for "providing a common meeting ground where the working woman and the woman of leisure may find out how they may be helpful to each other."

There is certainly room for such a magazine and if the first number is any criterion, it will be well worth the attention of club women.

MID-WINTER MEETING OF THE STATE FEDERATION.

By invitation of New Hampshire's Daughters the mid-winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at Park Street church, Boston, on Friday, February 3, at 10 o'clock. Speakers, Mrs. Mary E. Starkweather of St. Paul on "Children in Industry," and Rabbi Stephen H. Wise of New York on "The Newer World for the Child." No arrangements have been made for luncheon. White reserved seat or red tickets necessary for admission.

The Waban Woman's Club will meet on January 30 at the home of Mrs. Herbert O. Stetson of Pine Ridge road. At this time it will begin the first of a series of three afternoons devoted to the study of Spain.

On Monday, Jan. 30, the Newton High School C. I. S. C. will hold a special meeting with Mrs. George Quimby Hill, one of their non-resident members at Holliston.

The lecture by Mr. Okakura Kakuzo of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts announced by the Newtonville Woman's Guild for Jan. 31 has been postponed until sometime in April. There will be no meeting of the club on Tuesday.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club will hold its monthly business session from ten until eleven. Mr. Joseph C. Adams, head master of the Newton High School, will speak upon "The So-Called High School Fraternities." Guests may be invited for eleven o'clock.

The Current Events Class of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will meet on Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet on Thursday, Feb. 2, at 2.30 o'clock, in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Jan. 23 Stevenson's "Master of Ballantrae" was considered. Mrs. Ellen Moore assisted by three other members having the program in charge. A review of the book was given and the story told and selections read from it. There was a piano solo by Miss Amy de Melrose.

Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Griswold of Columbus street.

On Monday afternoon the C. I. S. C. met with Mrs. Logan, having the large attendance of the season. Miss Minnie Hyde was in charge of the program and she presented an able paper upon "The Influence of the Leading Magazines on Current Literature." The book, which she specially dwelt upon were Harper's, the Century, Scribner's, Atlantic Monthly and the North American Review. She spoke at length of the editors of these publications, George William Curtis, Richard Watson Gilder, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, James T. Fields and Henry Mills Alden, editor of Harper's and pointed out what the different ones have stood for. Her conclusion was that these magazines are literature in themselves, since they contain much of the leading fiction, the results of scientific experiments and discoveries and literary essays.

The Auburndale Review Club at its meeting on Jan. 24 considered "The Piper" by Josephine Preston Peabody Marks. Mrs. Peloubet, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Winslow and Mrs. Kettelle were in charge of the program.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club had a most interesting meeting last Thursday morning when two Social Service topics were presented. Mrs. Glendower Evans spoke upon "Savings Bank Insurance for Women" and Miss Gertrude Melick told of the work of the school nurse.

On yesterday afternoon the regular monthly meeting was held. Miss Martha Shannon gave a lecture upon "Artists in Thread, Ancient and Modern," which was illustrated by stereopticon. The lecture was followed by an exhibition of lace loaned by club member. The whole was most entertaining and instructive. A social and tea closed the afternoon.

A paper upon "The Lost Industries of Massachusetts" was presented to the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning by Miss Ethel Gilman. The two principal ones, which were treated were the merchant marines and the whole fisheries. Miss Gilman went back to the days of the Pilgrims and gave a sketch of the development of the trading vessels and the effect which the periods of war had upon them. After the discovery of pepper vessels came back laden with cargoes which brought in 700 per cent profit. Of the Salem merchants, she said, that in 1826 there were 126 ships owned in that town, today there are none. The introduction of the steamship practically put these sailing vessels out of business. England has been able to outdo the United States in the construction of steamships, particularly in the manufacture of iron hulls. The fact that our laws provide that only American built vessels may sail under the American flag has been responsible in large measure for the decline of American trading vessels and that we have at present practically no merchant marine. In speaking of the whole fisheries Miss Gilman said that in 1600 at Nantucket the whalers played about the shores, but gradually they have retreated or have been nearly exterminated until at the present time they are found only in the Arctic regions. In the times of war these vessels have suffered seriously, especially during the Civil War. Ten million dollars' worth of whale oil was brought in in a single year at Nantucket in the fifties. While the owners gained big profits the men themselves were underpaid and this fact together with the discovery of kerosene and other oils has been responsible for putting them out of business. There are today perhaps some forty ships in the United States that are carrying on whale fishing, mostly belonging at San Francisco, while there are still a few at New Bedford and Boston.

LECTURE ON THE PHILIPPINES

The Central Club through the efforts of its president, Dr. Baker, has arranged for an unusually attractive public lecture to be given in the Central church, Newtonville, next Monday evening, Jan. 30 at 7.45 o'clock by Hon. Dean C. Worcester of the Philippine Islands. Mr. Worcester has been connected with the Philippines ever since they became American property, first as a member of the Philippine Commission and now as executive head of the Department of the Interior with headquarters at Manila. He will speak on "The Non-Christian Tribes and what has been done for them under American Rule." This lecture is one which he has recently given before the National Geographical Society. It is illustrated by 200 beautiful slides.

OLD LADY DEAD.

After living seven weeks with several bones broken, as the result of a fall from a window, Mrs. Jane Dwyer, eighty-four years old, died Wednesday night at the Newton Hospital from prolonged exhaustion.

Mrs. Dwyer, who was a widow, boarded at 2 Cemetery avenue, Newton Centre. Early one morning she awoke and got up to close the window of her sleeping-room. She leaned out backward to look toward the sky and fell to the ground twenty-five feet below. She suffered a fractured thigh and wrist, as well as other injuries.

N H S

Mayor Hatfield addressed the pupils of the Classical high on Wednesday morning and told them some interesting facts about their education. The mayor figured that it cost the city about $700 for the education given a child until it reached the senior grade in the high school, and the grammar education costs about $450 per child.

The hockey team won its second game this week at Malden Wednesday afternoon winning by 2 to 0.

A large squad of fellows are out for the track meet which will be held in Newtonville Feb. 18.

Recent changes in the heating of the drill shed have made it habitable during the coldest weather.

Newtonville

—Mrs. Earle T. Smith, a resident of Brooks avenue for about a year died on Wednesday at the age of 67 years. She was a native of Middleboro, Mass. and had retired from business. Funeral services are being held this afternoon.

Madame Martiner is to be heard in a remarkably interesting program at the Chatham hall, on Thursday evening, Feb. 2. She has sent abroad for some songs that are as yet little known here and that are of great beauty and interest. Such a program with Madame's artistic interpretation and her beautiful voice should make it a notable occasion.

An Indian's Joke.
Indians extract no little quiet enjoyment from what seem to them to be oddities in the speech, manners and customs of white people. An Arapahoe stepped into the store of a trader one day to purchase some tobacco. The trader's son was in charge of the place. Now, this son was at that embarrassing stage of growth when the voice is changing, so that he never could tell whether tenor tones would issue from his lips or babylike falsetto or de profundis bass. On this occasion when the Indian asked for tobacco the youth's bass notes held the right of way, though they were speedily followed by ascending tones up to a squeaky falsetto.

He asked the Indian, "Will you have fine cut tobacco or a plug?" beginning in a growl and ending in birdlike soprano.

The Arapahoe listened gravely to this vocal variety and then without a smile reversed the process and, beginning with the youth's highest note and ending with his lowest, sealed, "I think I'll take some plug."—Southern Workman.

"Exercise and Rest."

What is the relation between exercise and rest? Work is that at which we must continue, whether interesting or not, whether we are tired or not. It used to be thought that the prime requisite of rest was the use of faculties other than those involved in the labor of the day. But there is such a thing as fatigue which goes deeper than daily work. We can work so hard as to become exhausted—too exhausted for any kind of work. Perhaps this is will fatigue. It is coming to be regarded as fundamentally true that rest from such fatigue demands continuity; that, for example, four periods of fifteen minutes each of rest is not the equivalent of one hour's rest; that a man who goes on a vacation and takes half an hour of his business work every day is doing the same thing as the man who had a horse with a sore back. He kept the saddle on only a few minutes each day, but the sore did not have a chance to heal. Rest periods must be sufficiently consecutive to overcome consecutive fatigue.—Luther H. Gulick in North American Review.

Cheerfulness and Cholera.

A cheerful disposition is held by some doctors to be the best protection against cholera. When this disease first visited Paris in 1832 a notice was issued advising the inhabitants "to avoid as far as possible all occasions of melancholy and all painful emotions and to seek plenty of distractions and amusements. Those with a bright and happy temperament are not likely to be stricken down." This advice was largely followed, and even when cholera was claiming over a thousand weekly victims the theaters and cafes were thronged. The epidemic was in some quarters treated as a huge joke, and plays and songs were written around it. Rochefort wrote a play, "Le Cholera Morbus," which proved a big success, and another production on the same lines, "Paris-molade," also had a long run.—London Chronicle.

Ether Toppers.

Ether is consumed by gallons to get drunk on in a small part of Scotland. The origin of this peculiar and limited abuse is strange. In 1848 a bad epidemic of cholera broke out in Glasgow. Among those flying from it were some who came back to Draperstown, their native place. With them they brought a cholera mixture which they found "exceedingly comforting." A rascally doctor, knowing that the comfort proceeded from ether, laid in a whole cask. He made his fortune and started the habit that lasts till yet. Ether is sold over counters in Scotland, the penny a drink. An old ether toper can drink two or three ounces a day, but one-half ounce is one big dram in water. The drinker gets bilious in a minute. It is far wilder and more dangerous than alcohol.

How Tortoise Shell is Worked.

The soldering of two pieces of tortoise shell together is effected by means of hot pinchers, which, while they compress, soften the opposed edge of each piece and amalgamate them into one. Even the raspings and powder produced by the file, mixed with small fragments, are put into molds and subjected to the action of boiling water and thus made into plates of the desired thickness or into various articles which appear to have been cut out of a solid block.

Inconsistent.

A man who took his infant daughter to be baptized told the clergyman to call her Venus.
"But I refuse to call her Venus," said the clergyman indignantly. "Venus is the name of a pagan goddess."
"Well, how about your own girl, Diana?" said the man.

Hair Raising.

Husband—I feel in the mood for reading something sensational and startling—something that will fairly make my hair stand on end. Wife—Well, here is my last dressmaker's bill.

Her Career.

"Well, has your college daughter decided upon her career?"
"Yes; he has blue eyes, brown hair and works in a hardware store."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Carries On.

Woggs—So young Saphhead and his father are carrying on the business? Boggs—Yes. The old man does the business, while young Saphhead does the carrying on.—Puck.

"The funny individual who always has a run in with the water never faces any better than the rest of us who are satisfied to take things as they come," said the homeless bachelor, "I took breakfast with one of these fussers the other morning in a little cafe uptown that was new to both of us."

"All he wanted was a cup of coffee and a couple of boiled eggs. But you might have thought the universe depended upon those eggs. After having given the waiter minute instructions as to their preparation, he sat with his watch in his hands."

"Finally the eggs came, and there was a lot more powwow. As he cracked the shell of one he turned to the waiter and said, 'Are you sure these eggs are positively fresh?'"

"And the waiter, who had watery eyes and a very red nose, replied with all seriousness: 'I really can't say, sir. I have a frightful cold in my head.'"—New York Times.

A Queen Freak.

Milrean, who was said to have been connected with some of the best families in France and to have possessed considerable means until ruined by the Panama canal disaster, was one of the best friends the beggars of Paris ever had, and to obtain funds for helping them he became a systematic thief. He used to frequent the fashionable streets during the day and pick pockets, and by night, dressed in ragged clothes, he dispensed the spoils to the first beggars he met. For years he continued the practice without being suspected, and it was by pure chance that he eventually did fall into the hands of the police. When his lodgings were searched sufficiently empty purses were found to fill a large packing case, and it was made clear that he had stolen hundreds of watches and scarfpins, while he had been pinching and contriving to live a respectable man on a few francs a week saved from the ruin of his fortune.

The Literary Man.

When I got home where I live at I will remove my wife's new hat from my desk and my daughter's socks and my wee baby's building blocks, three spoons of thread, some tatting frames, a box or two of cut out games, some scissors and my wife's new winks, a box of tacks and some tooth paste, a cookbook and a sewing kit, some letters that my wife has writ, some apple cores the kids put there, one or two wands of handmaide hair, a bottle of shoe polish, too, a hairbrush and a baby shoe, some stockings that are worth a darn, a skein or two of darning yarn, a picture book or two or three, a picture babe has drawn for me, a rubber ball, a piece of gum, some picture postcards and a drum. I'll do all that when I get home and then write an immortal poem that will have Swinburne double crossed—if all my pencils are not lost.—Houston Post.

Wrecks and Cats and Dogs.

There is an old provision in the English law on wrecks. It used to be that wrecks, like pretty nearly everything else, belonged to the king. Sometimes, if a vessel were only partly wrecked and it could be raised, an owner was averse to surrendering it, but it was generally seized for the king in accordance with the law until the question came up as to just what was a wreck. It was generally admitted that when all hands were lost that was a wreck, but as they wanted to get as narrow a definition as they could they got parliament to establish a law that in future nothing shall be considered a wreck out of which a cat or a dog escapes alive, and from that time until the present day no vessel counts about England without carrying a cat or dog.

Canvas Currency.

Banknotes appear in much the same form throughout the world and have always done so except in China, where the earliest note was made of canvas, some six centuries before the Christian era. It was more like a tablecloth than a banknote, its length being about two meters, or six feet six inches. This form of note was not very convenient when large sums were concerned, so later the note was printed on parchment, and all other forms of money were suppressed. One emperor issued notes representing more than three thousand millions. But the money was never popular, and gradually the notes were retired.

Charlotte Cushman's Warning.

One icy night Charlotte Cushman and Lawrence Barrett came out of the theater together. The steps were dangerously slippery, and it was with difficulty that they kept their feet at all. As they totteringly descended the great actress said to her companion quite in her lady Macbeth manner: "Take a good grip on my arm, Lawrence, and if I slip hold on like grim death. But if you slip in the name of heaven let go!"

Bad Manners.The two women stopped in front of a dentist's showcase.
"There, ummm," said the younger woman, pointing, "I want a set just like that."

"Hush, my child!" commanded her mother. "Don't you know that it's vulgar to pick your teeth in the street?"

A Bright Youth.

She (archly)—Whom should you call the prettiest girl in the room? He (looking about him)—H'm! Well, to tell the truth, there isn't a pretty girl in the place.

Some will always be above others. Destroy the inequality of today and it will appear again tomorrow.—Emerson.

MOST BEAUTIFUL WORDS.

A prize offered in New York for a list of 25 most beautiful words in the English language was awarded to the following list, of 21 words.

Words were judged according to their beauty of sound and beauty of meaning. Grace, justice and truth were rejected. The harshness of grace and the j in justice disqualified them, and truth was turned down because of its metallic sound. The words accepted as the most beautiful in the language are:

Melody	Nobility
Splendor	Sympathy
Adoration	Heaven
Florence	Love
Virtue	Divine
Innocence	Hope
Modesty	Harmony
Faith	Happiness
Joy	Purity
Henry	Liberty
Radiance

TUNNEL NEARLY FINISHED.

With the prolonged cold weather, work on the tunnel through Waban Hill, Newton, has been suspended, as it is deemed inadvisable to put in the concrete work until warmer weather prevails.

Not many residents of Chestnut Hill and Newton Centre have been aware of the work that has been in progress since last June, but a tunnel 2042 feet in length and nine feet in diameter has been drilled through solid rock, following the line of the old Cochituate aqueduct, which was built in 1848. In 1903, the Metropolitan Water Board completed the laying of the Weston aqueduct, which runs from a reservoir in Weston across the Charles River, the pipes having been laid beneath the river bed by means of coffer dams. The line that is now being constructed will join this aqueduct near Weston bridge.

The new pipe line has been laid as far as the junction of Valentine street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, and it will eventually reach from Weston bridge to the junction of Beacon street and Chestnut Hill avenue, near the reservoir at Chestnut Hill. The pipe is cast-iron and measures sixty inches in diameter.

At Waban Hill the grade was too steep to permit a gravity flow of water, so it was decided to tunnel through the hill, as had been done in the case of the old Cochituate aqueduct.

The contract was given to Joseph Hanredy of Chicago. The price was $102,000. Work has been carried on night and day under the direction of Chief Engineer Dexter Brackett of the Metropolitan Water Board.

In all, about five thousand cubic yards of rock have been taken out, and as fast as removed it has been crushed to be used in the concrete lining of the tunnel. At the end nearer Boston the bore was started not far from the memorial, which marks the spot where John Eliot preached the gospel to Waban and his tribe of Indians. The other end was commenced at the junction of Commonwealth and Grant avenues in Newton Centre.

Air drills were used and the tunnel was lighted by electricity. The rock encountered was the variety known as Roxbury pudding stone and was easily worked. The fact that blasting was carried on at night led to some objection among residents of the vicinity, and at least one individual filed a suit at East Cambridge to recover damages caused to the walls and ceilings of a house.

The tunnel runs under one large farm. The highest point of land over it is fifty-five feet above the tunnel floor, while the ditches at either end are from twelve to twenty feet below the surface. The tunnel is twenty feet above and a little to the north of the old Cochituate tunnel. When this tube was bored air shafts were drilled every four hundred feet. When these shafts were encountered by the workmen on the new tunnel it was necessary to use timber shoring, but this will be removed as soon as the tunnel is lined.

When completed the bore of the tunnel will be circular, with a diameter of six feet four inches. The rock taken out will be put back in the form of concrete, which will afford a smooth, sanitary lining to the tunnel.
